Postage Rate Rises 2 Cents This Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of mailing a letter goes up two cents beginning Saturday.

The increase is part of a new postal rate schedule that will also gradually drive up the fees paid by book and record club members, as well as the charges to people who buy from mail order houses. Subscription prices for magazines and newspapers by mail are expected to rise.

The new stamps are available now and must be used on letters postmarked after Friday midnight. The Jefferson Memorial replaces former President Dwight D. Eisenhower on the nation's basic stamp.

First-class mail goes from 8 cents to 10 cents. Airmail goes from 11 cents to 13. Post cards, now 6 cents, will cost 8 cents. The increases for books, records and publications will be gradual. The cost of a one-pound bundle of books and records will rise by 14 cents over five years to 30 cents.

The Postal Service estimates the mailing cost of Reader's Digest will go from the current 4 cents an issue to 8 cents an issue in three years.

The Magazine Publishers Association and other bulk mailers are fighting the increases before the Postal Rate Commission, which must approve all rate hikes. But the lengthy hearing processes are not likely to delay the increases set for Saturday.

"To the extent magazines can pass along the increases, they will," said a spokesman for the publishers association. He noted, however, that some publishers may have to eat up the increases to maintain circulation. The publishers estimate their postal costs will have gone up by 220 per cent from 1971 to 1977.

The publishers have contended that the increases could force some magazines out of business. Noting publishing profits are rising, Ralph Nicholson of the Postal Service said, "We are unconvinced by the pleas of poverty we hear out of the publishing industry."

The rate increase for first-class letters is the fourth since a four-cent stamp moved the mail in 1963. It's the second two-cent jump since the mail service was established.

Kissinger Takes Report To Tel Aviv

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger left Damascus for Tel Aviv today after talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad aimed at a disengagement agreement between Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan Heights.

In brief airport remarks, Kissinger said his more than seven-hour meeting with Assad was "constructive" and he would be returning in a few days, probably Friday night.

There was no immediate word on the crucial list of Israeli prisoners held by Syria which Kissinger had hoped to carry to Tel Aviv.

In addition to the prisoner list — estimated by the Israelis at 80 names — Kissinger hoped to get an assurance that Red Cross representatives can visit the captives. Israel has said it will not negotiate with the Syrians until those two conditions are met.

Syria, meanwhile, has been insisting on an Israeli commitment to withdraw eventually from all territory captured from Syria. The Israelis are willing to relinquish the territory they captured in the October war, but they have said repeatedly they will not return the Golan Heights territory they took in 1967.

Kissinger also was discussing with the Syrians the establishment of a buffer zone manned by United Nations troops between the Israeli and Syrian armies. A U.N. force now stands between Israeli and Egyptian forces in the Sinai Desert.

While Premier Golda Meir and the Israeli cabinet ponder their response to the Syrians, Kissinger will be in Cairo Thursday to see Egyptian President Anwar Sadat about extending the life of the U.N. force in the Sinai. It is due to expire April 24.

Kissinger then will return to Jerusalem, where he hopes to collect Israeli disengagement proposals and take them to Damascus on Friday. He is counting on Israeli concessions to get negotiations rolling, probably in Geneva.

French Cabinet Resigns Today

PARIS (AP) — The government of Premier Pierre Messmer resigned today, Education Minister Joseph Fontanet announced after a cabinet meeting.

Messmer's government had been in office since July 1972, when he took over from Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas, who was fired by President Georges Pompidou.

The Messmer cabinet had apparently been in trouble since the end of the year. Messmer, a former army officer and loyal Gaullist, was accused by critics of a lack of public contact and an inability to bring across Pompidou's domestic programs to the people.

Growing unemployment in France, some of it due to the world energy crisis and agricultural problems compounded by France's difficulties with its Common Market partners, remain unresolved. In addition, debates have raged on abortion, compulsory military service and education.

The news magazine L'Express reported earlier in February that Messmer was on his way out and would likely be replaced by Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, the 48-year-old finance minister.

Giscard, if he became premier, would be the first nonGaullist to take the post. He is the leader of the Independent Republican party which is partner of the Gaullists in the national assembly majority.

Showdown Nears Over Energy Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is moving toward a showdown on the emergency energy bill which President Nixon already has said he plans to veto.

The measure is slated to be brought up on the floor today under a parliamentary rule leaving it open to a procedural challenge from any member, House leaders said Tuesday. But before debate on the bill begins, Democrats will attempt to amend the rule so that such points of order cannot be raised, the leaders said.

The maneuvering is expected to settle the legislative fate of the bill, which includes a provision for an oil price rollback.

Unless the parliamentary rule is amended, an oil-state representative almost certainly will object to the price rollback provision on the ground that it was inserted in the bill by a Senate-House conference and never has been voted upon by the full House.

Most observers agree that Speaker Carl Albert would be forced to sustain such an objection and the bill would be effectively killed.

The Senate-passed measure also would provide the President authority to order gasoline rationing and other mandatory fuel saving measures, but Nixon said at his televised press conference Monday night that he would veto the measure "if it reaches my desk in its present form."

Nixon said the bill's rollback provision, while "immediately popular," would lead to further shortages "which would require, without question, rationing all over the country."

Nixon also said at his press conference that the energy crisis has passed, although a "serious problem" still remains. That comment drew a rebuke Tuesday from Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield who said, "The shortage remains, and so does the crisis."

Sens. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., told federal energy chief William E. Simon that his credibility and that of the President are being severely questioned as a result of the claim the crisis is over.

Weather

Mostly cloudy and warmer today and tonight. High today, upper 40s. Low tonight, mid 30s. Mostly cloudy with chance of showers Thursday. High near 50. Probability of precipitation, 10 per cent today, 20 per cent tonight, 30 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Tuesday were: high, 33; low, 24.

Air Pollution Fund Cut Brings Storm

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio officials say local environmental agencies would be hit hardest by plans to discontinue federal funding of pollution control programs by 1976.

"We are appalled by the proposal that federal grants to state and local pollution control agencies be eliminated in the future," said Dr. Ira Whitman, director of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency.

He said the Ohio agency would have to make some cutbacks should the grants be eliminated but local air pollution control agencies would suffer the most.

David Milenthal, chief of public information for the Ohio EPA, said 20 per cent of the agency's $2 million budget goes to 12 local air pollution agencies under contract to the state.

About 40 per cent of their funding comes from federal grants, he added. "In Ohio we have one of the most severe air pollution problems in the country due to heavy industrialization," Milenthal said.

"It's a terrible thing the administration is doing because they're endangering the health of the people," he said.

David M. Auberle, a supervisor of the Regional Air Pollution Control Agency for Dayton, said the loss of the federal funds would be devastating. "Our annual budget is $900,000. About $385,000 of that amount is federal funding," he said.

"So we're talking about a 40 per cent loss in funding. Obviously the program would have to go to the Ohio Legislature to request a raise in fees paid by industries," Auberle said.

Auberle said the fees paid by operators of stationary pollution sources for permits to operate are limited under the Ohio Environmental Protection Act.

"The government is essentially saying that it has changed its mind about all the laws and standards it has set, such as the National Ambient Air Quality Standards and the Clean Air Act," said Howard G. Bergman, commissioner of air pollution control for Cleveland.

Bergman said the Cleveland area exceeds the national ambient air quality standards 150 days a year.

Simon's Promotion Chances Hurt By Remark Against Shah

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Energy Chief William E. Simon may have hurt his chances of being named next secretary of the Treasury when he criticized statements by the Shah of Iran, well-placed sources say.

Simon, who also is deputy secretary of the Treasury, has been considered one of two leading candidates to succeed Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, whose resignation could come anytime.

But Treasury sources who have been friendly to the idea of Simon becoming the next secretary say he made a major mistake on Monday when he denounced as "irresponsible and reckless" statements by the Shah of Iran. The remark by the Shah that aroused Simon's ire was that the United States is importing as much oil now as before the Arab oil boycott.

The criticism of the Shah had potential for considerable embarrassment for the United States, because the Shah has been a close friend and Iran has continued as a major supplier of U.S. oil during the oil embargo by the Arab countries.

Nixon felt obliged to contradict Simon at his news conference Monday night, saying "I would not say that the Shah was irresponsible and reckless." He said the Iranian leader probably was using different figures than Simon's office.

However, the prime minister of Iran said Tuesday the Shah's information came mainly from U.S. sources, including Simon himself.

Simon "must be talking through his hat," said Prime Minister Amir Abbas Hoveida, in an interview.

A top Simon aide, Gerald Parsky, said Simon stands by his statement regarding the Shah's remarks. He said there was the suggestion in what the Shah had said that petroleum was being smuggled into the United States.

That idea, Parsky said, is what Simon referred to as being reckless and irresponsible. "It was not meant to be a personal affront to the Shah," he said.

Nevertheless, Treasury sources said the Simon statement "showed a lack of tact and diplomacy."

"We don't have that many friends in the world that we can afford to insult a good friend like the Shah," one source said.

Sight Balloon At Canary Islands

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (AP) — The balloon of American adventurer Thomas Gatch Jr. was sighted today over the Canary Islands, the Spanish news agency Europa Press reported.

The agency said the pressurized gondola, in which Gatch was trying to make the first balloon crossing of the Atlantic, was spotted over the Valley of the Orotava in the south of Santa Cruz de Tenerife.

It said the gondola, which has been reported missing for five days, was moving without difficulty south of the Orotava village.

Seek Compromise On State Speed Limit Cut

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State senators will try to iron out problems today on a speed limit law needed by Sunday to keep Ohio from losing about $160 million or more a year in federal highway funds.

They ran around Tuesday on the House-approved emergency bill that lowers state speed limits from 70 to 55 on freeways and 60 to 55 on state highways because, as worded, it treats truckers and auto drivers differently with regard to penalties.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, put off action for a day after some two-and-one-half hours of hassling that included party caucuses of about 90 minutes. He indicated the problems are such that the measure may have to go to a Senate-House conference committee.

The legislature normally adjourns weekly sessions on Thursdays, but leaders of both chambers said they expect the lawmakers to remain this week until the law is enacted. It would take effect immediately upon signing by Gov. John J. Gilligan.

In other action as the Senate and House returned from weekend recess, the House defeated by a single vote, then reconsidered and passed 55-33 a bill permitting the sale of state lottery tickets in bars, taverns, and other holders of Ohio's liquor permits.

After long debate, the House sent back to its Judiciary Committee a bill to strengthen Ohio's child abuse laws. The standoff resulted in a quarrel over the definition of an emotionally abused child, and what might be done to prevent and detect emotional abuse.

Without dissent, the Senate approved and sent to the House measures making corrections in a 1973 act that repealed Sunday sales prohibitions, and creating a presumption of death after persons have been missing three years or more under certain conditions.

Six new bills were introduced in the two chambers, including two in the House which would require issuance by the state of identification cards to non-holders of drivers' licenses, and another creating an Ohio Development Center to work toward the creation of more jobs.

Sen. Clara E. Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton, offered a proposal to permit minors to receive advice from physicians about contraception and pre-natal treatment without consent of their parents. Her bill contains a strict prohibition against advice or treatment concerning abortions.

The eleventh hour stall on the speed limit bill involves existing Ohio "prima facie" provisions under which a driver violating posted limits may use as a defense a claim he was not driving too fast for road and weather conditions.

Under the bill, as it came from the House, the driver of a car going faster than 55 but slower than 70 could escape a two-point penalty under Ohio's driver penalty point system. A truck driver exceeding 55, the present limit for trucks, would have to take the two points.

The car driver would face a maximum $50 fine for a first offense, while the trucker, the first time around, could be fined $100 in addition to the points. For second offenders, it would be no points for an auto driver and a $100 fine; two points, up to 30 days in jail, and a possible $250 fine for truckers.

Asking for a correction in the bill, Sen. Richard G. Reichel, R-29 Massillon, asserted "if it isn't corrected, somebody is going to make a lot of money for a lot of lawyers defending truck drivers doing more than 55."

Ohio is under the gun to enact the speed limit by March 3, the 60-day deadline from the signing by President Nixon of the Federal Emergency Energy Conservation Act. Any state that fails to act stands to lose its federal aid highway funds under a provision of the federal statute.

Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, met a barrage of criticism in the House to his bill that eliminates a Liquor Department prohibition against sale of lottery tickets on the premises of liquor permit holders. Most of the opposition centered around claims the matter should be left up to the State Liquor Commission which presently has the say over gambling activities in liquor spots.

Wilkowski pointed out, however, that the measure "doesn't authorize anyone to sell lottery tickets... it leaves it up to the State Lottery

Reagan Won't Free Prisoners

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan says he would refuse to release two prisoners whose freedom may be the ultimate ransom demand by Patricia Hearst's kidnapers.

"It would be the wrong thing to do," Reagan told newsmen Tuesday in Sacramento. "If you start doing anything of that kind, it would be like opening prison doors. It would make kidnapping a very common occurrence."

Reagan said there would be no legal way he could comply with any demand to free Joseph Remiro, 27, and Russell Little, 24. Under executive clemency, he can grant pardon to convicted criminals, but he has no authority under state law to free persons awaiting trial.

Remiro and Little are being held at San Quentin Prison on charges of murdering Oakland School Supt. Marcus Foster last November. Both men have pleaded innocent.

People in Need, the $2 million food distribution program that Hearst set up at the kidnapers' demand for free food for California needy as a precondition for negotiations for Miss Hearst's release, geared up to dole out more bags of groceries Thursday.

Violence and confusion that marked the opening of the food giveaway last Friday caused director A. Ludlow Kramer to cancel plans to resume distribution Tuesday.

Reagan criticized the thousands of persons who accepted the free food as "aiding and abetting lawlessness."

"I regret that the people are willing to take that food," he said. "I think it would be great if everyone would refuse."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained on an upward curve today, adding to a rally that began more than a week ago.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.88 at 861.39, after giving up part of an earlier rise of more than 5 points. Gainers held on to a 7-4 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Alcoa was the most active stock on the Big Board, rising 1/4 to 49 1/2 in trading that included blocks of 60,000 and 35,000 shares at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was up .55 at 97.01.

Trading, as measured by both overall volume and the block trades that mark institutional activity, was running well ahead of Tuesday's moderate pace.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks rose .18 to 51.60.

Container Law Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Environmentalists gave strong endorsement Tuesday night to a bill requiring deposits on soft drink, beer, and other beverage containers but conceded the measure could have economic impact.

They testified before the House Environment and Natural Resources Committee on a bill that would require deposits of at least five per cent, encourage recycling of containers, and fix penalties in accordance with the state's new criminal code.

Robert Gould, legislative representative of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency, said that agency favors "this bill or some type of bill like it" even though "it could have some kind of adverse effect on the economy."

The Ohio EPA favors it, he said, because cans and bottles along highways and in other places "contribute to our unsightly litter problem" and because non-returnables represent "a wasteful use that contributes to our growing solid waste problems."

The EPA official and other witnesses had no precise estimates on how many jobs might be lost in Ohio if the bill should pass, but tended to regard that as not being a major problem.

Thomas Lodge of Salem, Ohio, representing a group called the Ohio Coalition for Beverage Containers, said he attempted to obtain figures "but was not very successful."

He did say, however, that based on a comparison with projections for the State of Illinois, Ohio among most states "would suffer less economic impact if the bill should pass."

Lodge said the glass container industry could expect an increase in its sales at first, later a tapering off, and then a probable decrease. Other industries would be affected adversely, and there would be displacement of jobs — some lost in some areas and some gained in others, he said.

See Defense Budget Rise In Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger says the U.S. defense budget will have to climb to $100 billion in three years just to stay even with this year's record $85.8 billion.

Schlesinger told the House defense appropriations subcommittee Tuesday the budget will have to increase $5 billion to $6 billion a year to stay still because of rising prices.

He contended U.S. defense programs can be shrunk no further if this country is to continue to bolster the western nuclear and non-nuclear deterrence to Soviet forces.

Schlesinger said the U.S. goal in the current round of U.S.-Soviet arms limitation talks is a nuclear balance — and hopefully reduction — to deter either side from risking a nuclear strike on the other.

"We are prepared to balance up," he said. "We hope they will balance down."

Schlesinger also agreed the Nixon administration may have increased this year's $85.8 billion defense budget up to $1.5 billion to stimulate the economy and reduce unemployment.

Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Kingston.

Friends may call at the funeral beginning 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Shock Probation Motion Denied

Judge William Ammer denied a motion for shock probation filed by Richard Ray Parsons this past week. Parsons had previously pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery. He was sentenced on Nov. 21, 1973 to 1-20 years in the Mansfield Reformatory for Men.

By the statute allowing for shock probation, a prisoner who has been in the institution for at least 30 days but not more than 60 can apply for release from further execution of the sentence. This law was designed for first offenders.

Ammer denied the motion on the grounds that Parsons had charges still pending against him in Hillsboro and Chillicothe Municipal Courts for forgery. He also had passed three other checks in Pickaway County and had never made restitution for them.

'Passenger' Injured In

Parked Truck

Ralph C. Hanna, 45, Columbus, was injured this morning when he started a pick-up truck from the passenger side and discovered the vehicle was in gear. Hanna was sitting in the truck in front of the water department while the driver was inside the building when he decided to start the motor for heat.

As the engine started, the truck being in gear, lurched forward. Hanna grabbed the steering wheel to avoid a parked car and the truck continued on, hitting a tree in front of the Hummel and Plum Insurance building.

Hanna received a neck injury and was referred to his family physician by the investigating officer, Ptl. William Pontious of the Circleville Police Department.

Landscaping

Offered At OU-L

Registration in the program, Landscaping for Homeowners, is still open and can be completed at the Office of Continuing Education, Lancaster Campus of Ohio University during regular office hours, 8 a.m.-8 p.m., Monday through Friday and 9 a.m.-12 noon on Saturday.

The first of four sessions in the program will begin Monday, March 4, 7:30-9:30 p.m.

According to Paul P. Mechling, Director of Continuing Education at the campus, the Landscaping course was one of the most popular courses conducted last year. Instructors for the sessions will be members and a former member of the staff of the Ohio State University.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained on an upward curve today, adding to a rally that began more than a week ago.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.88 at 861.39, after giving up part of an earlier rise of more than 5 points. Gainers held on to a 7-4 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Alcoa was the most active stock on the Big Board, rising 1/4 to 49 1/2 in trading that included blocks of 60,000 and 35,000 shares at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was up .55 at 97.01.

Trading, as measured by both overall volume and the block trades that mark institutional activity, was running well ahead of Tuesday's moderate pace.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks rose .18 to 51.60. The Amex volume leader was Den-Tal-Ez, down 1/2 at 9 1/2.

Watergate Indictments Said Near

NEW YORK (AP) — Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski says he thinks his office now knows the full story of the Watergate affair. The New York Times said today.

Jaworski told The Times in a Washington interview that major indictments of persons involved in the cover-up of the Watergate break-in would come as early as Thursday or Friday.

The Times quoted Jaworski as saying that the indictments are being delayed until a jury is sequestered in the New York trial of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans. They are being tried on charges of conspiracy, perjury and obstructing justice.

Jaworski said in the interview that the full Watergate story would be revealed as indictments were handed down and trials begun. But the prosecutor added the case has not "peaked" and further disclosures are expected.

The Times said that Jaworski chose not to describe the motives of the participants in the Watergate affair but quoted the British historian Lord Acton, "Power tends to corrupt, and absolute power corrupts absolutely."

Jaworski did not discuss whether President Nixon might be indicted but said that, once indictments are handed down, it might be easier for the House Judiciary Committee to get information from the special prosecutor's office, The Times said.

The committee is investigating whether there are grounds for impeaching the President.

MRS. CLARA LIVINGSTONE
Mrs. Clara Livingstone, 77, 623 Clinton St., died 12:15 p.m. Tuesday in Berger Hospital.

Born Oct. 8, 1896 in Ross County, she was the daughter of Dayton and Mary Hinton Haynes.

Her husband Edward S. Livingstone preceded her in death.

Mrs. Livingstone was a member of the First Church of Christ in Christian Union.

Survivors include, one daughter Mrs. Mary I. Gaines, 571 Renick Ave.; two sisters, Mrs. Merley Congrove, 575 Renick Ave.; Mrs. Blanche Buchanan, Columbus; one sister-in-law, Mrs. Ora Shepler, Kingston; five grandchildren; nine great-grandchildren.

The funeral service will be 2 p.m. Friday at the Hill Funeral Home, Kingston, with the Rev. David Cyrus, officiating.

Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Kingston. Friends may call at the funeral beginning 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Shock Probation Motion Denied

Judge William Ammer denied a motion for shock probation filed by Richard Ray Parsons this past week. Parsons had previously pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery. He was sentenced on Nov. 21, 1973 to 1-20 years in the Mansfield Reformatory for Men.

By the statute allowing for shock probation, a prisoner who has been in the institution for at least 30 days but not more than 60 can apply for release from further execution of the sentence. This law was designed for first offenders.

Ammer denied the motion on the grounds that Parsons had charges still pending against him in Hillsboro and Chillicothe Municipal Courts for forgery. He also had passed three other checks in Pickaway County and had never made restitution for them.

'Passenger' Injured In Parked Truck
Ralph C. Hanna, 45, Columbus, was injured this morning when he started a pick-up truck from the passenger side and discovered the vehicle was in gear. Hanna was sitting in the truck in front of the water department while the driver was inside the building when he decided to start the motor for heat.

As the engine started, the truck being in gear, lurched forward. Hanna grabbed the steering wheel to avoid a parked car and the truck continued on, hitting a tree in front of the Hummel and Plum Insurance building.

Hanna received a neck injury and was referred to his family physician by the investigating officer, Ptl. William Pontious of the Circleville Police Department.

Registration in the program, Landscaping for Homeowners, is still open and can be completed at the Office of Continuing Education, Lancaster Campus of Ohio University during regular office hours, 8 a.m.-8 p.m., Monday through Friday and 9 a.m.-12 noon on Saturday.

The first of four sessions in the program will begin Monday, March 4, 7:30-9:30 p.m.

A Page Of Opinion

Metric Groundwork

Most Americans would probably have to be dragged screaming into an outright conversion to the metric system. It is a pain in the neck after spending a large part of a lifetime attuned to one system of weights and measures to change overnight to another.

But it is happening by dabs and dribbles. Much of industry already uses at least a partial metric system. Expanding trade almost demands it. The United States is the only major nation which has not converted. Substituting meters for yards and liters for quarts, along with all the rest, will require a considerable education effort extending over a number of years. The place to begin is in the schools, before the English system becomes indelibly etched in the mind.

And that is the purpose of the International Conference on Metric Education underway in Biloxi-Gulfport, Miss. The conferees objective is to familiarize "teachers and administrators with the resource people who can assist them in developing programs for teaching the metric system."

When a meeting described as "the largest gathering of metric educators ever assembled at a single conference" begins planning strategy, the goal of conversion in the '70s appears a realistic one.

There Is A Western Union

NEW YORK, —This being the birthday of our oldest son, Mike, I am in sufficient good humor to give "equal time" to a corporation colossus I recently offended by saying its service was lousy.

It is the form of a Mailgram form A. G. Wolfe, of Western Union, Garland, Texas. The mail was delayed, as usual, but here verbatim is the galvanizing message:

"I recently read, with some interest, your column in which you discussed the question, 'What happened to Western Union?' From your description I can only assume that there must be two companies in this great land of ours who bear the name 'Western Union' . . . The Western Union I am familiar with happens to be the first communications common carrier to file with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) for authorization to put in place this nation's first domestic communications satellite. This satellite, 'Weststar' is due for launch from Cape Kennedy in April of this year which will make it the first of its kind and Western Union the first common carrier to offer satellite communication services.

"I believe you also mentioned 'hotlines' in your article, the Western Union I am acquainted with provides to industry (primarily the securities industry) an instant voice communications system which just happens to be called, 'Hotline'."

"There are some other interesting facts about the Western Union that I know that you might be interested in. Western Union has more computers on line for the switching of telecommunications (teleprocessing) than any company in the United States. They also provide to industry two direct dial teletype systems (Telex and TWX) which enables some ninety thousand companies (including King Features Syndicate) to establish either direct connections to one another, or to take advantage of the multi-million dollar computer complex located in Midletown, Virginia, which provides a myriad of services, including this Mailgram you are now reading.

"So as I stated earlier there must be two companies with the name Western Union, for the company I have just described certainly can not be the same inefficient organization you assualted in your recent article.

"Oh yes, one last comment . . . You mentioned not knowing your friends zip code and even doubting that he did. Zip Codes have been with us for some years now and even my little girl (age 5) knows hers."

Good for your little girl, Mr. Wolfe. If I could find Western Union in New York, or get a Western Union messenger, I'd send her congratulations. But that's not easy. I'll keep trying for the rest of the week, however, then I'll send it by Postal Telegraph.

Spage age technology is behind the invention by a Utah scientist of a hydrogen-powered automobile. Advantages: more mileage, a lighter car, and the emission of fog instead of smog. It could be utilized as propulsion for everything that moves, from a lawn mower to a 747.

Possible handicap: The stuff must be stored in a double-barreled thermos-like tank at minus 423 degrees Fahrenheit.

Which, by coincidence, is the same temperature we have in our apartment.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The question could have been asked by roughly two million others: "Because of the energy shortage, will I be forced to forego the pleasures of my second home?"

This time it was posed by Joseph Doherty, who travels 185 miles to his weekend retreat on a Vermont lake, and who has a fear of driving a small car "that equals the fear many people have of heights and elevators."

Doherty wonders if he will be able to obtain enough gasoline to maintain his life style. He searches for the answer but maintains that no conclusion is possible for another few months.

"The second home market is being watched very carefully and it could be one of the first areas to feel the effect of the energy shortage," he believes, but adds: "There is still too much confusion to reach a conclusion."

Doherty, 63, is president of the National Association of Realtors, whose membership numbers 118,000 of the 1.5 million licensed real estate practitioners in the United States.

Among the pressing questions to which, he insists, there are no answers at this time:

—Will we return to downtown, to mass transit and to the life we knew before the highway explosion?

—Will the older, intown location command a premium price? Will houses in suburbia become less desirable?

—Aside from the growing environmental factor, what is the future of shopping centers that depend upon the automobile for customer transportation?

"I do not have the answers," said Doherty.

About the nearest thing to a prediction is this:

"Row houses and their more sophisticated counterpart, town houses, and apartments and condominiums, may increase in popularity at the expense of single residences."

True, he explained, the older, intown location may command a premium and suburban sprawl may have peaked in value until we resolve the problem of travel by private car.

But he recommends:

"We must be cautious in speculating

on this matter because we may be able to effect sufficient conservation to preserve suburbia and to forestall a significant rush back to the city."

Doherty, who helps operate a family-owned real estate and insurance business in Andover, Mass., believes a better picture of the residential market will begin to appear in the second quarter, after results of the spring market are in.

By then the energy supply situation may be clear, both in regard to heating oil and gasoline. Results of conservation efforts will be measurable. Better techniques for distribution of supplies might evolve.

Road Deaths Dip Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal traffic safety director reports that deaths on the nation's highways were reduced by 23 per cent in January, the first month of the national mandatory 55 mile an hour speed limit.

Dr. James P. Gregory, administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, said Monday there were 853 fewer deaths on the road last month than in January a year ago.

Gregory told the Senate Commerce Committee that before the start of the energy crisis, "we were predicting a significant increase in fatalities for 1973."

But he said that instead, there was a reduction in November followed by a larger drop in December.

In December, Gregory said, all states had fewer fatalities than they had a year before. However, the decrease was three times as great in those 18 states that had lowered their speed limits than for those that hadn't, he said.

Patients Retire

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Of all Yugoslavs retiring early because of illness, 51.2 per cent do so because of heart ailments, "Vus" magazine said. It called for alarm since heart patients are mostly highly skilled people with great responsibilities.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 27, the 58th day of 1974. There are 307 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1900, the British defeated the Boers in the battle of Paardeberg in Africa. The outcome was the creation of the Union of South Africa.

On this date:

In 1594, Henry IV was crowned king of France at Chartres.

In 1700, the southwest Pacific island of New Britain was discovered by the English navigator, William Dampier.

In 1807, the American poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, was born in Portland, Maine.

In 1889, a railroad was opened in Burma from Rangoon to Mandalay.

In 1933, the German parliament building, the Reichstag in Berlin, was burned.

In 1939, the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed sit-down strikes.

Ten years ago: Communist Viet Cong forces inflicted a dramatic defeat on government forces in southern South Vietnam, showing that guerrillas could use classic infantry tactics.

Five years ago: President Nixon called for Western unity, during a visit to Rome.

One year ago: The United States accused North Vietnam of violating major provisions of the Vietnam cease-fire agreement by delaying the release of American war prisoners.

Today's birthday: Actress Elizabeth Taylor is 42 years old.

Thought for today: The early morning hours have gold in their mouth — Dutch proverb.

United Brethren Church community house and the "hobo" camp at the city building were turned into soup kitchens where hungry children of the city were fed. Clothes were also dispensed at these locations. The food, its preparation and serving and the clothes were all donations of the local citizens.

Circleville's newest filling station opened on S. Court St. just south of the N&W Railroad. It was H. M. Crites and Sons Sohio station.

Muhlenberg Twp. Farmer's Institute went on record as condemning the insidious types of advertising used by cigarette companies to popularize the use of cigarettes by girls and young women.

J. W. Chalfin of Circleville Twp. was appointed county dog warden by county commissioners.

Appearing at the Grand Opera House was Paul Brown and the Rotary Players in the rural drama of the day, "The Awakening of John Slater."

Health Care Law Overturned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that a one-year residency requirement for state-financed health care for the poor is an impermissible infringement on the right to travel.

The court, in an opinion written by Justice Thurgood Marshall, said such a regulation impinges on travel by denying a basic necessity of life.

The decision overturned a ruling by the Arizona Supreme Court upholding the state's residency requirement.

LAFF - A - DAY

"My wife and I are slowly drifting apart. How can I speed it up?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My father is 77 and presents a difficult problem for both him and us.

He simply cannot remember anything for more than a few minutes. This causes us to be impatient. Later we are filled with guilt because of our attitude.

Is there anything that can be done?

Mrs. H. L., La.

Dear Mrs. L.:
The loss of memory for recent events occurs frequently in the elderly. I say "recent events" because these same people can recall accurately and vividly experiences that happened early in their childhood.

The cause is narrowing of the blood vessels that carry blood to the brain. Almost everyone at this age has arteriosclerosis to some degree. It takes a great deal of patience and understanding to accommodate to people whose memory is so failing.

Dear Mrs. R.:
To even speculate about a diagnosis of your problem would do you and my readers a great injustice.

Why, then, do I answer your letter? I do so to emphasize the many possibilities that may account for such a vague symptom.

A hernia, marked obesity, chronic constipation, varicose veins, bladder disturbances, a prolapse, or dropping of the womb, rectal disorders, and a wide variety of other conditions may be the cause of such exhaustion and a heavy, loaded-down feeling.

Many friends will say, "I had that, too," and use their condition as an explanation of yours. Don't fall into that trap. There is only one way to localize such a problem, and that is by a complete examination that you obviously have neglected.

Small events are symbols of the times . . .

The wife swung her feet off the bed. Lazily, she scratched her scalp. She reached for a pink quilted robe. The features sagged toward the chin. She heard a knee snap when she stood. Then Louise remembered—this was the start of that second honeymoon.

She found the cord holding the drapes. Like eyelids, they peeled away from the scene. From the motel window, the Wasatch Mountains scratched the pale sky. The snow was blinding. She squinted at the beauty of it. The second honeymoon had been a long time coming.

Charlie had driven two days, begging gasoline, to reach this motel. They had made it on their 19th anniversary. Louise loved the majesty of the mountains, the clear air, the snow silence.

She waddled to the bed. "Charlie," she murmured. "Honeybun." He lay hunched on his side, the blankets under the chin. She pushed. "Charlie," she said, "get up. Wait till you see this view." Charlie was in no mood to look.

He was dead. His cheeks were colder than the room. Louise tried to scream. Instead, she fell into a fit of coughing. She called the front desk. "Something's the matter with my husband," she said. "Get a doctor. This is an emergency. He's cold as ice."

There was lots of action. A doctor arrived. He turned Charlie on his back and unbuttoned the striped pajamas. He was a middle-aged man who had driven too far too fast. The manager arrived. Two policemen in galoshes stomped in.

Everybody asked a lot of questions. Louise apologized for the way she looked. She went to the bathroom and combed her hair and put on lipstick. The coroner arrived. "Madame," he said, "it's a hundred to one that your husband had a coronary in his sleep. I will have to do an autopsy. Be finished by 10 in the morning. So sad — a second honeymoon."

Louise looked out the window. She felt too nervous to weep. The coroner walked over. "I can ship him home by air, and you can drive, if you wish. I'll do whatever you wish."

Suddenly, she shook with fright. Louise stared at the coroner. "Oh, no," she said. "You just put Charlie in the refrigerator room or wherever you do those things. We're paid up here for two weeks and I'm going to enjoy myself." . . .

lunched at the country club. There were six of them—all old. They stooped forward when they walked; they wore hundred dollar pants suits, tiny scintillating shoes with enormous platforms and—the thing they had in common—blue hair.

The six talked simultaneously, but they had been doing this for years and each heard the other five clearly. The black waiter, Tommy, was an old favorite. He knew they would talk diet, order fattening food, coax each other to have dessert, and then move into the game room for an afternoon of gin rummy for nickels and dimes.

Tommy poised his pencil and put on his cast-iron smile. The six could recite the menu from memory, but they studied it as though it was written in Sanskrit. As they read, the conversation continued.

The waiter brought a pot of coffee. He filled the cups until they steamed like black lava. Stella smiled vacantly at her dearest friends as her face slid slowly into the hot cup. The body moved sedately to the left, and fell on the floor.

"Oh, dear!" the hostess said. "Now Stella has fainted. Call somebody. Call Tommy." A few men from other tables came running. One trotted to a phone. One of the women poured French dressing on a deep green salad, and looked at the body. "She's too old for these lunches," she said. "Stella ought to know better."

The country club manager was distressed when he saw the ambulance back up to the front entrance. The five cronies talked softly as a doctor examined Stella. He put the stethoscope back in the bag: "This woman is dead," he said, looking around.

The ladies looked up furtively. The doctor took Stella's name, address, next of kin, names of witnesses. "The boys from the ambulance will remove the body," he said.

A meditative hush fell over the luncheon table. The five old women looked at each other. The hostess sighed. "I know what we'll do," she said reassuringly. She called the waiter.

"Tommy," she said, "be a good fellow, will you, and take our cups and saucers—all our things—and move them to a table near the window. If we sit here, well, you know, we'll all be depressed by Stella."

Metric Groundwork

Most Americans would probably have to be dragged screaming into an outright conversion to the metric system. It is a pain in the neck after spending a large part of a lifetime attuned to one system of weights and measures to change overnight to another.

But it is happening by dabs and dribbles. Much of industry already uses at least a partial metric system. Expanding trade almost demands it. The United States is the only major nation which has not converted.

Substituting meters for yards and liters for quarts, along with all the rest, will require a considerable education effort extending over a number of years. The place to begin is in the schools, before the English system becomes indelibly etched in the mind.

And that is the purpose of the International Conference on Metric Education underway in Biloxi-Gulfport, Miss. The conference objective is to familiarize "teachers and administrators with the resource people who can assist them in developing programs for teaching the metric system."

When a meeting described as "the largest gathering of metric educators ever assembled at a single conference" begins planning strategy, the goal of conversion in the '70s appears a realistic one.

There Is A Western Union

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, —This being the birthday of our oldest son, Mike, I am in sufficient good humor to give "equal time" to a corporation colossus I recently offended by saying its service was lousy.

It is the form of a Mailgram form A. G. Wolfe, of Western Union, Garland, Texas. The mail was delayed, as usual, but here verbatim is the galvanizing message:

"I recently read, with some interest, your column in which you discussed the question, 'What happened to Western Union?' From your description I can only assume that there must be two companies in this great land of ours who bear the name 'Western Union'... The Western Union I am familiar with happens to be the first communications common carrier to file with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) for authorization to put in place this nation's first domestic communications satellite. This satellite, 'Weststar' is due for launch from Cape Kennedy in April of this year which will make it the first of its kind and Western Union the first common carrier to offer satellite communication services.

"I believe you also mentioned 'hotlines' in your article, the Western Union I am acquainted with provides to industry (primarily the securities industry) an instant voice communications system which just happens to be called, 'Hotline'."

"There are some other interesting facts about the Western Union that I know that you might be interested in. Western Union has more computers on line for the switching of telecommunications (teleprocessing) than any company in the United States. They also provide to industry two direct dial teletype systems (Telex and TWX) which enables some ninety thousand companies (including King Features Syndicate) to establish either direct connections to one another, or to take advantage of the multi-million dollar computer complex located in Midletown, Virginia, which provides a myriad of services, including this Mailgram you are now reading.

"So as I stated earlier there must be two companies with the name Western Union, for the company I have just described certainly can not be the same inefficient organization you assaulted in your recent article.

"Oh yes, one last comment... You mentioned not knowing your friends zip code and even doubting that he did. Zip Codes have been with us for some years now and even my little girl (age 5) knows hers."

Good for your little girl, Mr. Wolfe. If I could find Western Union in New York, or get a Western Union messenger, I'd send her congratulations. But that's not easy. I'll keep trying for the rest of the week, however, then I'll send it by Postal Telegraph.

Spage age technology is behind the invention by a Utah scientist of a hydrogen-powered automobile. Advantages: more mileage, a lighter car, and the emission of fog instead of smog. It could be utilized as propulsion for everything that moves, from a lawn mower to a 747.

Possible handicap: The stuff must be stored in a double-barreled thermos-like tank at minus 423 degrees Fahrenheit.

Which, by coincidence, is the same temperature we have in our apartment.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The question could have been asked by roughly two million others: "Because of the energy shortage, will I be forced to forego the pleasures of my second home?"

This time it was posed by Joseph Doherty, who travels 185 miles to his weekend retreat on a Vermont lake, and who has a fear of driving a small car "that equals the fear many people have of heights and elevators."

Doherty wonders if he will be able to obtain enough gasoline to maintain his life style. He searches for the answer but maintains that no conclusion is possible for another few months.

"The second home market is being watched very carefully and it could be one of the first areas to feel the effect of the energy shortage," he believes, but adds: "There is still too much confusion to reach a conclusion."

Doherty, 63, is president of the National Association of Realtors, whose membership numbers 118,000 of the 1.5 million licensed real estate practitioners in the United States.

Among the pressing questions to which, he insists, there are no answers at this time:

—Will we return to downtown, to mass transit and to the life we knew before the highway explosion?

—Will the older, intown location command a premium price? Will houses in suburbia become less desirable?

—Aside from the growing environmental factor, what is the future of shopping centers that depend upon the automobile for customer transportation?

"I do not have the answers," said Doherty.

About the nearest thing to a prediction is this:

"Row houses and their more sophisticated counterpart, town houses, and apartments and condominiums, may increase in popularity at the expense of single residences."

True, he explained, the older, intown location may command a premium and suburban sprawl may have peaked in value until we resolve the problem of travel by private car.

But he recommends:

"We must be cautious in speculating

on this matter because we may be able to effect sufficient conservation to preserve suburbia and to forestall a significant rush back to the core city."

Doherty, who helps operate a family-owned real estate and insurance business in Andover, Mass., believes a better picture of the residential market will begin to appear in the second quarter, after results of the spring market are in.

By then the energy supply situation may be clear, both in regard to heating oil and gasoline. Results of conservation efforts will be measurable. Better techniques for distribution of supplies might evolve.

Road Deaths Dip Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal traffic safety director reports that deaths on the nation's highways were reduced by 23 per cent in January, the first month of the national mandatory 55 mile an hour speed limit.

Dr. James P. Gregory, administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, said Monday there were 853 fewer deaths on the road last month than in January a year ago.

Gregory told the Senate Commerce Committee that before the start of the energy crisis, "we were predicting a significant increase in fatalities for 1973."

But he said that instead, there was a reduction in November followed by a larger drop in December.

In December, Gregory said, all states had fewer fatalities than they had a year before. However, the decrease was three times as great in those 18 states that had lowered their speed limits than for those that hadn't, he said.

Patients Retire

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Of all Yugoslavs retiring early because of illness, 51.2 per cent do so because of heart ailments, "Vus" magazine said. It called for alarm since heart patients are mostly highly skilled people with great responsibilities.

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 27, the 58th day of 1974. There are 307 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1900, the British defeated the Boers in the battle of Paardeberg in Africa. The outcome was the creation of the Union of South Africa.

On this date:

In 1594, Henry IV was crowned king of France at Chartres.

In 1700, the southwest Pacific island of New Britain was discovered by the English navigator, William Dampier.

In 1807, the American poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, was born in Portland, Maine.

In 1889, a railroad was opened in Burma from Rangoon to Mandalay. In 1933, the German parliament building, the Reichstag in Berlin, was burned.

In 1939, the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed sit-down strikes.

Ten years ago: Communist Viet Cong forces inflicted a dramatic defeat on government forces in southern South Vietnam, showing that guerrillas could use classic infantry tactics.

Five years ago: President Nixon called for Western unity, during a visit to Rome.

One year ago: The United States accused North Vietnam of violating major provisions of the Vietnam cease-fire agreement by delaying the release of American war prisoners.

Health Care Law Overturned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that a one-year residency requirement for state-financed health care for the poor is an impermissible infringement on the right to travel.

The court, in an opinion written by Justice Thurgood Marshall, said such a regulation impinges on travel by denying a basic necessity of life.

The decision overturned a ruling by the Arizona Supreme Court upholding the state's residency requirement.

LAFF - A - DAY

"My wife and I are slowly drifting apart. How can I speed it up?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My father is 77 and presents a difficult problem for both him and us.

He simply cannot remember anything for more than a few minutes. This causes us to be impatient. Later we are filled with guilt because of our attitude.

Is there anything that can be done?

Mrs. H. L., La.

Dear Mrs. L.:
The loss of memory for recent events occurs frequently in the elderly. I say "recent events" because these same people can recall accurately and vividly experiences that happened early in their childhood.

The cause is narrowing of the blood vessels that carry blood to the brain. Almost everyone at this age has arteriosclerosis to some degree. It takes a great deal of patience and understanding to accommodate to people whose memory is so failing.

The need for constant repetition can be distressing for the elderly and their children. Sometimes, the sufferer may completely deny that he has been given a message. This, of course, creates conflict and confusion.

A number of experimental drugs are now being actively investigated to increase the memory of people like your father. We hope that such a boon to the happiness of the elderly and those that surround them will soon be available.

I can't get through the end of a day without complete exhaustion. I feel that I'm dragging my lower abdomen around like a dead weight.

What is the cause of this?

Mrs. L. R., W. va.

Dear Mrs. R.:
To even speculate about a diagnosis of your problem would do you and my readers a great injustice.

Why, then, do I answer your letter? I do so to emphasize the many possibilities that may account for such a vague symptom.

A hernia, marked obesity, chronic constipation, varicose veins, bladder disturbances, a prolapse, or dropping of the womb, rectal disorders, and a wide variety of other conditions may be the cause of such exhaustion and a heavy, loaded-down feeling.

Many friends will say, "I had that, too," and use their condition as an explanation of yours. Don't fall into that trap. There is only one way to localize such a problem, and that is by a complete examination that you obviously have neglected.

Abby's Wrong Signal

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote that she heard strange voices coming from her turned-off radio and traced it to her neighbor-a ham radio operator. Your reply was an insult to more than 285,000 radio amateurs in the U.S.A.

She should first contact the ham, and if he is indeed a licensed ham operator, he has had to pass strict examinations which require him to know enough to keep a good, non-interfering signal on the air. If he's at fault, he would appreciate being told, so he can promptly remedy the situation.

There are thousands of nonlicensed law-breakers operating radios on another service who often cause interference, for which we hams are blamed. Our record for self-policing and helping in emergencies is too often overshadowed by annoying interference from someone who is not a licensed ham.

Any questions you or your readers have about amateur radio can be answered by writing to The American Radio Relay League, 255 Main St., Newington, Conn. 06111.

WA4BDW IN BIRMINGHAM

DEAR "WA": Sorry my advise about hams wasn't kosher. I appreciate your setting me straight.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a godchild we've seen only twice in our lives. She's now 22 and sent us an invitation to her wedding. We would have gone even though it would have meant traveling to another state and spending a night in a motel, but the date of her wedding conflicted with the opening of hunting season. My husband loves to hunt, and I've never planned anything that would keep him from his hunting.

I wrote her a nice letter, explaining why we couldn't attend her wedding. A few days later we received this one from her:

"Dear godparents: I received your letter today, and I am disappointed and insulted. My fiancée is also a hunter, and so are many of his friends, but they all seem able to make it to our wedding. Hunting season comes every year, but I only get married once, therefore I feel that your excuse is pretty flimsy and downright disgusting. And please don't send a gift as it won't be appreciated."

YOUR GODDAUGHTER

Abby, we were shocked! I wanted to reply but my husband said: "Ignore it." He was also glad we declined now that he found out what kind of a person she is.

How would you have handled this?

SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED: When declining the invitation, I'd have omitted the reason. But since you didn't, and she took offense, I'd have ignored her rude letter and saved the price of a wedding gift.

DEAR ABBY: How do you get a little wart off your hands?

JUDI

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote that she heard strange voices coming from her turned-off radio and traced it to her neighbor-a ham radio operator. Your reply was an insult to more than 285,000 radio amateurs in the U.S.A. She should first contact the ham, and if he is indeed a licensed ham operator, he has had to pass strict examinations which require him to know enough to keep a good, non-interfering signal on the air. If he's at fault, he would appreciate being told, so he can promptly remedy the situation.

There are thousands of nonlicensed law-breakers operating radios on another service who often cause interference, for which we hams are blamed. Our record for self-policing and helping in emergencies is too often overshadowed by annoying interference from someone who is not a licensed ham.

Any questions you or your readers have about amateur radio can be answered by writing to The American Radio Relay League, 255 Main St., Newington, Conn. 06111.

WA4BDW IN BIRMINGHAM

DEAR "WA": Sorry my advise about hams wasn't kosher. I appreciate your setting me straight.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a godchild we've seen only twice in our lives. She's now 22 and sent us an invitation to her wedding. We would have gone even though it would have meant traveling to another state and spending a night in a motel, but the date of her wedding conflicted with the opening of hunting season. My husband loves to hunt, and I've never planned anything that would keep him from his hunting.

I wrote her a nice letter, explaining why we couldn't attend her wedding. A few days later we received this one from her:

"Dear godparents: I received your letter today, and I am disappointed and insulted. My fiancé is also a hunter, and so are many of his friends, but they all seem able to make it to our wedding. Hunting season comes every year, but I only get married once, therefore I feel that your excuse is pretty flimsy and downright disgusting. And please don't send a gift as it won't be appreciated."

YOUR GODDAUGHTER

Abby, we were shocked! I wanted to reply but my husband said: "Ignore it." He was also glad we declined now that he found out what kind of a person she is.

How would you have handled this?

SHOCKED
DEAR SHOCKED: When declining the invitation, I'd have omitted the reason. But since you didn't, and she took offense, I'd have ignored her rude letter and saved the price of a wedding gift.

DEAR ABBY: How do you get a little wart off your hands?

JUDI
DEAR JUDI: Dermatologically speaking-see a dermatologist. Socially speaking-tell him you're busy.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD EVANS

Miss Donna L. Kempton Bride Of Edward Evans

Miss Donna L. Kempton became the bride of Mr. Edward E. Evans, 2:30 p.m. Jan. 5, in the First Presbyterian Church of Circleville. The Rev. Henry Walters performed the single ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Kempton, Route 1, Williamsport and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet M. Evans, 310 Watt St. Circleville.

The church was adorned with poinsettias around the altar and yellow mums and gladiolus at the Communion table.

Mrs. Harley Evans, New Holland, a friend of the bride, presented a program of nuptial selections at the piano preceding the ceremony.

Miss Linda Kempton of Williamsport served her sister as maid of honor and Mr. Tom Evans, Columbus, was best man for his brother.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents following the ceremony for the immediate families.

The new Mrs. Evans is a graduate of Westfall High School, attended Asbury College and Circleville Bible College. She is presently employed by Reynolds Metals Co., Ashville.

Mr. Evans, a graduate of Circleville High School, attended Franklin University and is now self employed.

Plans For Summer Camping Made By Roundtown Roamers

Roundtown Roamers, chapter 1340, met Saturday evening at the K of P Hall in Stoutsville. A carry-in dinner preceded the business meeting. Lowell Sweptson, vice president, conducted the business meeting in the absence of Wes Edstrom Jr., president.

Discussion on leasing or buying land for camping was held. Several members gave reports on different locations visited. William Ramey reported on an area near Conkels Hollow that could be rented. Any member wishing to visit this area is to meet at Orville Kempton's 1:30 p.m., March 4th.

Paul Miller, regional field director and his wife attended the meeting. Mr. Miller reported to the club some of the happenings on the state and national levels of NCHA. He reminded the group that the state-wide Spring Campout would be held at Bowling Green on May 17, 18 and 19 and that reservations could still be made. He discussed the operations and production of the newsletter "Smoke Signals."

Also mentioned was the insurance plan that the NCHA had on the chapter's campouts. It was emphasized that each club had to let the State Association know beforehand of the scheduled campouts to enable the insurance to cover the club. The insurance is good for only the period at the campsite, not travel to and from campouts.

Paul reported that the state would like the club members to wear their vests when on a campout. This is a method of spreading interest in the NCHA. The Fall State-Wide Campout is scheduled for the 4th weekend in September and would be held at Troy, Ohio. Registration will be increased $1 for this campout.

Members voted on the different locations that they would like to camp this year. Areas selected were Hargus Lake, Memory Lanes, Maple Groves, Pike Lake, Cowan Lake, Deercreek (if it is opened) Old Man's Cave, and Scioto Trails. The executive board will determine the dates for each location.

The club will host the 1974 Spring Seminar at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds on April 19th, 20th and 21st. A meeting of the seminar committee was called on March 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Hatfield, Route 1, Stoutsville.

The next meeting will be held at the K of P Hall in Stoutsville on March 23 at 6:30 p.m. with a carry-in dinner. Each member was asked to bring their door prizes for the seminar to this meeting. The meeting was adjourned and card playing was enjoyed by the members.

GOP Booster Club Urges Members To Write Congressmen

A turkey dinner preceded the Friday evening meeting of GOP Booster Club in the home of Mrs. Wayne Stonerock, 1250 S. Pickaway St. Featured was a decorated birthday cake made by Mrs. Roger Jury honoring the February birthday of Mrs. Stonerock.

Mrs. Marion I. Smith led the Pledge to the Flag of the United States of America which was followed by all members singing "The Battle Hymn Of The Republic."

Miss Lucille Dumm conducted the business session. She urged all members to write their Congressmen and make their voices count in some of the coming legislation. She praised The Herald for the recently published article giving the addresses of the men serving there.

A discussion was held on recent kidnappings followed with remarks about what should be done about them.

Games were played with prizes won by Miss Dumm, Mrs. John Steinhauser and Mrs. Jury. Miss Dumm also received the door prize and special prizes were given to Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Roy Dumm.

The March meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. John Steinhauser, 1028 Gerogia Road.

Newcomers Club Makes Plans For Spring Dance

Plans were made for the Spring Dance and Installation Dinner at the recent meeting of Circleville Newcomers Club in the meeting room of Pickaway County Historical Society.

Mrs. Lou Miga demonstrated flower arranging for the 25 members and two guests present. She made two centerpieces, one corsage and arranged three daffodils in a bud vase. These were given as door prizes to Mrs. Don Brandon, Mrs. Chris Shuter, Mrs. Alex Dolhanczyk and Mrs. Mel Ehrlich. Other flowers were won by Mrs. Dana Griffith and Mrs. James Dixon.

Mrs. William Mosher was selected as candidate for the club to run in competition for the Fastest Gun in the West contest in conjunction with the "High Fever Follies" sponsored by Berger Hospital Guilds. All members were urged to give their support.

The next meeting will be March 20 at the same location. All newcomers to the area are welcome to attend.

American Legion Auxiliary Making Articles For Veterans

Making ditty bags, the American Legion Auxiliary provides for patients entering Chillicothe Veterans Hospital, was discussed during the Monday evening meeting of Unit 134 in the Post Home. Mary Stephens, veterans affairs and rehabilitation chairman, displayed finished bags and told how they are made. She also displayed a finished 4'x6' lap robe needed at Dayton VA Center. Such items make the first days of hospitalization easier for veterans knowing organizations are interested in their welfare.

Any members or interested citizens having material they would like to donate for making these things, can call Mrs. Stephens or contact the unit president, Mrs. John Sabine. From June 1972 until June 1973, 2,450 filled ditty bags were given to the men.

Unit members heard a report of the Mid-Winter Conference of the American Legion Auxiliary Units in Ohio, Feb. 22 through 24 at Neil House Motor Hotel, Columbus. Many items made in the craft shop at Chillicothe Veterans Hospital were displayed and sold with the money going to those veterans making them.

Young People Fete Pastor Ervin Kirk

Young People's Group of Millport Chapel Community Church gave a surprise birthday party for their pastor, the Rev. Ervin (Bo) Kirk at his home, Route 1, Ashville on Friday.

Highlight of the evening was the decorated styrofoam cake which he was presented and attempted to cut. After the gifts (many of which were gag gifts) were opened, the guests were served cake, ice cream, fruit salad, and coffee, tea and punch.

Those present were: Mrs. Mary Lemaster, Sally, Sharon, Shirley and Richard of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lemaster, Mary and Danny; Mrs. Barbara Welsh, Travis and Trent; Mrs. Linda Kirk, Paul and Mark; Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Damron, Mike and Joey; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stepp and Lisa; and the honored guest and Mrs. Ervin Kirk of Ashville.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cassidy; Ricky Green; Mr. and Mrs. David Collins, Beth, Robin, Wesley, Karen and Susie of Groveport; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Siniff and Chris of Obetz.

Unable to attend, but sending gifts were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Brady, Karen, Becky, and Debbie, Robert Welsh and William and Bryan Kirk.

Massive Problem Seen In Oil Shale Work

DENVER (AP) — The figures show billions of barrels of oil locked in the rocks of three western states. But don't count on seeing much of the precious stuff anytime soon.

Enormous engineering problems are involved in squeezing the oil from the shale, and much of the oil may be too expensive to produce.

The government reports 16 million acres of deposits in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming, with a possible yield of more than a thousand billion barrels of oil.

Two-thirds of the vast tracts are considered of eventual commercial value, with yields of 25 gallons or more of oil per ton of shale. That could mean 600 billion barrels, the Interior Department says.

Proven world oil reserves — recoverable oil in liquid form known to exist in the ground — are currently estimated at 600 billion barrels, with about two-thirds of it in the Middle East.

The huge volumes of material that have to be handled mean that extracting shale oil has to be done cheaply, says a scientist who has made oil shale his life's study. The high expenses mean that eventual production will be measured in millions rather than billions.

the oil in the form of vapor.

One method, called in situ, is to crush the shale and cook the oil out of it where it lies underground. The second is to mine it either in strips or via tunnels and bring the rock to the surface to be crushed and cooked in giant processors called retorts.

For the in situ method, the fracturing of the rock underground can be done with water pressure, with high-voltage electrical currents that form powerful arcs through the rock or with nuclear or chemical explosives.

Except for chemical explosives, in situ fracturing appears too expensive or too experimental to succeed, Prien said.

Once crushed, the shale would be cooked by an infusion of hot gases or superheated steam, and the oil driven out of the ground through collection wells.

The big advantage of in situ methods is that they would pose little surface environmental threat, said the chemist, but efficiency would be low and no one is sure just how stable the ground underneath would be in the future.

State Seeks More Federal Dollars

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When an Ohioan pays $1.55 in federal income taxes, Uncle Sam sends back only $1.00 in federal services.

"You don't get federal money on good looks and good intentions," said Jay Tepper, executive assistant to

Gov. John J. Gilligan. "You get it by power and influence."

Tepper and other Gilligan administration officials openly bemoan the fact that Ohio ranks 50th among the states and the District of Columbia in the amount of federal money spent on each citizen.

During fiscal 1973, each Ohioian received $148 from Washington. Meanwhile, the District of Columbia garnered $798 per person and far-away Alaska attracted $692 for each resident.

Only Ohio's neighbor to the west, Indiana, did poorer. Each Hoosier received $130 in federal services.

Tepper said there are a few reasons why Ohio's share is comparatively small when federal dollars are parceled out.

Italian Divorce Law Battle Set

ROME (AP) — A bitter battle is shaping up over efforts to repeal Italy's three-year-old divorce law, a powderkeg potentially explosive for both the government and the Church here.

Italy's Roman Catholic bishops have called on the nation to avoid turning a referendum on divorce into a "religious war," but passions are already ignited.

When actor Peppino de Filippo recently gave a stage benefit for the National Committee for Divorce, the theater in Rome was attacked the next day by vandals.

Parliament's approval of divorce in 1970 was seen as a landmark decision in this predominantly Roman Catholic country. Many Italians said it was evidence of how far modern Italy had moved away from the direct influence of the Church.

This feeling was further strengthened when the constitutional court, rejecting a church-backed appeal of the divorce law, said it had the power to invalidate provisions of the 1929 Lateran Pact between Italy and the Vatican.

Demo Leader Fined For Speed

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A Hamilton County Democratic party leader was fined $25 and ordered to pay $10 in court costs Tuesday when a judge found him guilty of speeding.

John A. Wiethe, co-chairman of the county's Democratic party, was arrested Oct. 9 and charged with doing 85 miles per hour in a 60-mile-per-hour zone. The police officer also charged him with driving while intoxicated.

Visiting Judge George J. Gounaris of Dayton found Wiethe not guilty of the drunk driving charge.

"First, there is a bias toward non-industrial states," he said. "Second, our welfare payment level is not as high as other states, and a good deal of federal money is based on that. Third, our highway system is nearly all built, and we don't have that money coming in."

"It's an historical kind of problem that we face," said David C. Sweet, director of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development. "Traditionally, there has been a reluctance to aggressively pursue federal dollars."

"Many looked at federal dollars with trepidation. They thought federal dollars meant federal control."

Sweet and Tepper said the Gilligan administration is taking steps to attract more federal money to Ohio.

Sweet said his department has moved to create planning districts to capitalize on federal funds for local governments.

Meanwhile, Tepper said Gilligan has helped to create the Great Lakes Governors' Conference to obtain more money for the region.

Other states participating are Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. They, along with Ohio, comprise a region which has suffered just like the Buckeye State in attracting federal aid.

"Ohio has 23 congressmen out of 435 and the region has nearly a quarter of the representation in Congress," Tepper said. "The bigger the base of political strength, the greater the chance to influence the federal government."

"If we can mobilize six states, it stands to reason that it's the best way to further the interests of Ohio."

The conference has held meetings in Cleveland and Washington in the first two months of existence.

However, success is not on the immediate horizon. "The situation didn't happen over night and it won't change over night," Tepper said.

Massive Problem Seen In Oil Shale Work

DENVER (AP) — The figures show billions of barrels of oil locked in the rocks of three western states. But don't count on seeing much of the precious stuff anytime soon.

Enormous engineering problems are involved in squeezing the oil from the shale, and much of the oil may be too expensive to produce.

The government reports 16 million acres of deposits in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming, with a possible yield of more than a thousand billion barrels of oil.

Two-thirds of the vast tracts are considered of eventual commercial value, with yields of 25 gallons or more of oil per ton of shale. That could mean 600 billion barrels, the Interior Department says.

Proven world oil reserves — recoverable oil in liquid form known to exist in the ground — are currently estimated at 600 billion barrels, with about two-thirds of it in the Middle East.

The huge volumes of material that have to be handled mean that extracting shale oil has to be done cheaply, says a scientist who has made oil shale his life's study. The high expenses mean that eventual production will be measured in millions rather than billions.

"Even the most rosy predictions don't portray shale as a complete solution to the nation's energy troubles," said Dr. Charles H. Prien, head of the chemical division at the Denver Research Institute.

Over the past decade the institute, affiliated with Denver University, has spent close to $2.5 million investigating both the basic technology needed to extract the oil from the compound kerogen imbedded in the rock and the environmental problems associated with the whole process.

Prien sees the development of the industry this way:

First, prototype mines and processors that may produce a dribble of 40,000 or 50,000 barrels of oil a day about 1980. Next, an output of one million barrels a day in another few years. Finally, a tapering off of production by the end of the century.

The United States consumes more than 17 million barrels of oil a day right now. Demand has doubled in about two decades. That fact leads environmentalists to charge that shale development will permanently scar the West for the sake of "a drop in the bucket of oil."

"Shale may only give us five per cent of the U.S. oil in its heyday, but anywhere you get one million barrels is important," Prien said.

In addition to gasoline, diesel oil and jet fuels, byproducts would include coke, asphalt, ammonia, sulphur and paraffin wax.

There are two basic ways in which the shale deposits can be tapped. Each requires the rock to be crushed to small bits and heated to between 800 and 1,000 degrees fahrenheit to release the oil in the form of vapor.

One method, called in situ, is to crush the shale and cook the oil out of it where it lies underground. The second is to mine it either in strips or via tunnels and bring the rock to the surface to be crushed and cooked in giant processors called retorts.

For the in situ method, the fracturing of the rock underground can be done with water pressure, with high-voltage electrical currents that form powerful arcs through the rock or with nuclear or chemical explosives.

Except for chemical explosives, in situ fracturing appears too expensive or too experimental to succeed, Prien said.

Once crushed, the shale would be cooked by an infusion of hot gases or superheated steam, and the oil driven out of the ground through collection wells.

The big advantage of in situ methods is that they would pose little surface environmental threat, said the chemist, but efficiency would be low and no one is sure just how stable the ground underneath would be in the future.

State Seeks More Federal Dollars

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When an Ohioan pays $1.55 in federal income taxes, Uncle Sam sends back only $1.00 in federal services.

"You don't get federal money on good looks and good intentions," said Jay Tepper, executive assistant to

Gov. John J. Gilligan. "You get it by power and influence."

Tepper and other Gilligan administration officials openly bemoan the fact that Ohio ranks 50th among the states and the District of Columbia in the amount of federal money spent on each citizen.

During fiscal 1973, each Ohioian received $148 from Washington. Meanwhile, the District of Columbia garnered $798 per person and far-away Alaska attracted $692 for each resident.

Only Ohio's neighbor to the west, Indiana, did poorer. Each Hoosier received $130 in federal services.

"Many looked at federal dollars with trepidation. They thought federal dollars meant federal control."

Sweet and Tepper said the Gilligan administration is taking steps to attract more federal money to Ohio.

ROME (AP) — A bitter battle is shaping up over efforts to repeal Italy's three-year-old divorce law, a powderkeg potentially explosive for both the government and the Church here.

Parliament's approval of divorce in 1970 was seen as a landmark decision in this predominantly Roman Catholic country. Many Italians said it was evidence of how far modern Italy had moved away from the direct influence of the Church.

This feeling was further strengthened when the constitutional court, rejecting a church-backed appeal of the divorce law, said it had the power to invalidate provisions of the 1929 Lateran Pact between Italy and the Vatican.

But a conservative Catholic group pushed for a referendum on the law and collected 1½ million signatures to meet legal requirements for putting the question before voters. The referendum is now expected to be held between April and June although no precise date has been set yet.

The Vatican has publicly steered clear of the conflict although there have been reports in the Italian press of behind-the-scenes support being given to anti-divorce groups.

But Italy's bishops made their position clear recently saying Catholics had the right to "defend their model of a family."

They called the 1970 divorce act a "permissive law which in fact favors the guilty spouse and does not safeguard adequately the rights of children and of the innocent and poor ones."

In the end the voters will decide and the pollsters are predicting a very close outcome.

The present law grants divorce after a five-year separation period based on mutual consent. Since its enactment the courts have granted 60,000 on the 84,000 divorce petitions, figures pro-divorce groups contend do not show a rush to dissolve Italian marriages.

Art Teacher Has Article Published

Bill Chandler has been recently notified that an article he had submitted to the "School Arts" magazine would be published. Chandler was notified of his acceptance for publication by George F. Horn, editor of the magazine.

The article entitled "And The Negative Becomes The Positive" concerns a visual concept taught by Chandler to first year design students. Several pieces of student art will accompany the article showing the concept described by Chandler's teaching of the principle. Students whose art will be published are Norma Faulkner, Scott Turvey, Monique Jacobs, Belinda Seimer, Gary Hammond, Heidi Riddle, Randy Watkins and Tim Hartranft.

Chandler holds a bachelor of science degree in art education from Ohio University and has done work at both Morehead State university and The Columbus College of Art and Design. "School Arts" is a magazine published for art educators by Davis Publications of Baltimore, Md., and William Dawson and Sons, Ltd., London, England. It is distributed internationally.

Lad Nabbed For Slaying Of His Father

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—A 15-year-old Le Sourdsville youth, brooding over his suspension from school, shot to death his sleeping father Tuesday and slashed his 12-year-old sister in the chest, police said.

Mark Hunt, dismissed from high school for 10 days on Monday, was apprehended seven and a half hours later in a newly-purchased automobile about four miles from the murder site, according to authorities.

He told police he killed his father "because I didn't like him." Police said two friends were with him when the arrest was made. He was not armed, police said. The Lemon-Monroe High School student said he was planning to flee to West Virginia.

Dead was William Hunt, 38. He was shot in the cheek at close range with a small gauge shotgun, police said. The boy's sister, Melinda, was hospitalized in fair condition with a knife wound near her heart.

The youth told police he was having "family problems."

The mother of the family was at work at the time of the early-morning bedroom slaying.

An airplane, state helicopter from Columbus and a force of local and state law officers spearheaded the search for the boy.

But a break in the case didn't come until police learned the youth had purchased an automobile.

As the broadcast of the car's description went out, a Trenton patrolman spotted the auto immediately in front of him. The teenager offered no resistance when arrested.

Hunt is being held at the County Juvenile Detention Center in Middletown, police said.

POSITIVE EXAMPLE—This print done by Norma Faulkner displays very well the approach taught and described by art teacher Bill Chandler. Chandler teaches art in the Logan Elm Schools and has recently published an article entitled "And the Negative Becomes The Positive" in which he explains this type art design.

U.S. Developing Robot Aircraft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by Israel's heavy plane losses last fall, the U.S. Air Force is speeding development of robot aircraft to attack heavy anti-aircraft defenses without risking pilot lives.

Officials expect to have the first such pilotless strike aircraft within the next two or three years by pulling together components already being manufactured, including a 3,000-pound drone now used for photo reconnaissance.

Otherwise, it might take as long as seven or eight years if Air Force industry specialists designed an entirely new system from the drawing board up.

American air officers were jolted when the Israeli Air Force lost about 100 planes to masses of Soviet-built anti-aircraft missiles and guns fired by Syrians and Egyptians in the brief October war.

Although the Israelis finally neutralized the Arab batteries, questions remained concerning the possible high cost in U.S. pilots and planes if they ever had to penetrate thick Soviet air defenses.

As a result, Air Force chiefs have given a push to the program for developing remotely piloted vehicles (RPVs) for the air strikes. An RPV is a pilotless plane controlled from afar by technicians in specially equipped transport aircraft.

The Air Force is asking Congress for $15 million to develop what is described as a "multimission RPV" that could drop bombs or launch missiles at ground targets, jam enemy radar, and conduct reconnaissance.

The plan is to build 50 such robot systems at first. Officials say there has been no decision on how many such RPVs may eventually be built.

The robots would be launched either from an aircraft or from the ground.

Experts said they would go in at low level, under enemy radar, attack their targets, and then fly back out to be recovered.

Inmates Itch To Leave Jail

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Fourteen prisoners who have been itching to get out of the Middletown City Jail got their wish Tuesday.

They were transferred to the Butler County Jail at Hamilton, about 10 miles away, when health officials discovered all 14 prisoners were infested with lice and skin irritation.

The jail, which was a high school until the early 1920s, was ordered fumigated and will not be reopened until a certificate is received from the health department, Police Capt. Robert Walton said.

Brown To Appeal Ruling On Mercury

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William Brown said Tuesday he will appeal a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court judge's refusal to order three chemical companies to remove mercury from Lake Erie.

The refusal was contained in a 35-page decision issued last week by Judge George McMonagle.

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Fourteen prisoners who have been itching to get out of the Middletown City Jail got their wish Tuesday.

They were transferred to the Butler County Jail at Hamilton, about 10 miles away, when health officials discovered all 14 prisoners were infested with lice and skin irritation.

The jail, which was a high school until the early 1920s, was ordered fumigated and will not be reopened until a certificate is received from the health department, Police Capt. Robert Walton said.

Brown To Appeal Ruling On Mercury

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William Brown said Tuesday he will appeal a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court judge's refusal to order three chemical companies to remove mercury from Lake Erie.

The refusal was contained in a 35-page decision issued last week by Judge George McMonagle.

'Industry' Topic At Kiwanis Meeting

The Circleville Kiwanis Club met 6:30 p.m. Monday at Pickaway Arms with Fred Bower, president, presiding. Myron Haradon, plant manager, Circleville DuPont Plant, was the guest speaker, speaking on the topic, "What Does Industry Look to In a Community?" Haradon graduated from Georgia Tech with a BS in Mechanical Engineering, starting with DuPont in 1947 working in Tennessee, Virginia and Kansas before coming to Circleville. He stated that Circleville is a place where groups and individuals can grow and expand in stature and responsibility. "Industry is like marriage," commented Haradon, "Courtship being when industry looks over an area before deciding to build, engagement when the company announces it is going to build a facility, and the marriage being when the plant hires and trains personnel to start production. The family has an off-spring when the plant produces a new product." Most everyone either works for or is effected by industry. When industry prospers so does the community. Twenty members of the club brought their bosses. Other business included guests from Lancaster, German Village and the Circleville High School Key Club.

Lt. Calley Asks Court For Freedom

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Lt. William L. Calley Jr. appears before a civilian judge for the first time while his attorneys argue for his release on bail. Calley, under house arrest at his small, red-brick apartment at nearby Ft. Benning for nearly three years, was to make the rare public appearance today before U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott. Kenneth Henson, Calley's local civilian attorney, said he will plead that the traditional reasons for denial of bail are not present in Calley's case. He contends that Calley will neither flee nor present any danger to the community. The Army often has referred to Calley, who was convicted in March 1971 for the murder of at least 22 civilians at the Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai, as "a model prisoner." U.S. Attorney William Scoth said he feels that, since Calley has been convicted and his appeal denied by a military tribunal, he should remain in confinement. Both attorneys concede, however, that bail is discretionary on Elliott's part. Calley's attorneys were granted a writ of habeas corpus Feb. 11 mandating the Army to bring the lieutenant before the federal judge to hear his "court prayers for release."

Pedestrian Hit In Crosswalk

A 17-year-old Circleville boy was cited for failure to yield the right of way after his car struck a pedestrian in the crosswalk on W. Main St. 7:45 a.m. today. David Weaver, 381 Cedar Heights Road, was westbound on W. Main St. when his car hit Joseph I. Moore, 65, 460 Dearborn Ave., who was crossing the street. Moore refused treatment for an injury to his left elbow. Weaver was cited by Ptl. William Pontious.

President Can't Be Forced To Testify, Lawyers Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers for President Nixon have defended his refusal to appear as a witness at a California state trial on the grounds that no court, state or federal, can order a President to testify in person. If a President was forced to appear in court, his lawyers argued in a brief filed Tuesday in D.C. Superior Court "his inability to perform the duties as the chief executive would threaten the security of the entire nation." The argument filed by James D. St. Clair, the President's chief Watergate lawyer, was directed as much to appearances in a federal as a state court. Nixon disclosed Monday night that he had rejected a request from a

Airline Asks Surcharge

NEW YORK (AP) — In the first move by a major airline to pass jet-fuel price increases to customers, American Airlines has asked for a four per cent surcharge on all domestic passenger fares.

The airline, the nation's fourth largest in terms of revenues, made the request Tuesday to the Civil Aeronautics Board. American also proposed a six per cent surcharge on freight rates and a five per cent surcharge on charter fares. If approved, the hikes would become effective March 24.

American's proposal is in addition to a request for a six per cent across-the-board increase in passenger fares also pending before the CAB. Air carriers have contended that fuel prices have more than doubled over last year's levels.

Frontier Airlines, a regional carrier, was the first airline to request such a surcharge, but the CAB has not acted on its proposal.

Watergate grand jury to testify. St. Clair's brief was issued in response to a California Superior Court judge's order directing Nixon to appear as "a material and necessary witness" at the trial of former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman. The subpoena, issued by Judge Gordon Ringer in Los Angeles, was forwarded to the District of Columbia court for a decision on whether Nixon must comply. "In the 187 years since our Constitution was adopted no court, federal or state, has held that the President of the United States can be compelled to testify in person in compliance with a summons," St. Clair wrote. Attorneys for Ehrlichman have until March 8 to file their argument supporting their request for the President's appearance. Ehrlichman is charged with conspiracy, burglary and perjury in connection with the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Man Schedules Test Run Of Fuel From Farm Products

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Parttime inventor Josiah (Joe) Morgan announced Monday he'll give his low-cost substitute fuel a test run Saturday with a trip to Columbus. Morgan said he's come up with a mixture made from farm products, but he's keeping quiet about the exact ingredients. He said the new fuel could take him 400 miles in a standard automobile at a cost of two dollars. "It will be a fast go to get ready, but at present it looks like I'll be able to make it Saturday," said the 37-year-old employee of a Middletown box-making firm. "I intend to use possibly three fuel mixes, with something in each that the others do not have. This should give me a report on which performs the best. "It certainly will not be a rehearsed performance, but I'm confident on proving it. I have no doubts about it." Morgan said he'll install a fuel pack in the back of his 1968 station wagon for the trip.

The new fuel, he said, does not require any alterations to the auto's engine. Before making the trip, Morgan said he'll have a lawyer investigate whether he'll be violating any state laws by driving on a highway using a taxless fuel. After the maiden trip to Columbus, he plans a journey to Nashville, Tenn., using only the mixture which showed the best results.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An extensive high pressure ridge centered over the East Coast is spreading milder weather to the mid west section of the nation, including Ohio. Early morning temperatures in the state were generally in the teens and 20s Wednesday compared to the more frigid readings of Tuesday. Brisk southerly winds will push afternoon readings into the 30s and 40s during the day. Widespread cloudiness will cover the entire state but the sun will be visible at times, shining through the cloudiness, the National Weather Service said. Under cloudy skies temperatures tonight will lower only into the 20s and 30s. A weak winter storm will enter Ohio Thursday and spread a few light showers during the day. Afternoon temperatures Thursday will climb into the 40s and 50s before turning colder as the storm moves eastward out of the state. A return to winter is in store for Friday with some light snow flurries possible in the northeastern counties.

WICKED WINTER WAVES—Two people on Atwater beach, north of Milwaukee, Wis., are dwarfed by the huge waves that crash along the Lake Michigan shoreline.

Farmers' Income Less Than Thought

WASHINGTON (AP) — New figures by the Agriculture Department show farmers netted $22.1 billion less during the past decade than previously computed by government economists. The new figures are "proposed revisions" that take into account a broader base of farm expenses and income sources than analysts had used earlier. Revisions were made back to 1959.

A new farm income situation report Monday by the Economic Research Service showed larger gains in expenses than for gross income, meaning that net farm income for those years was revised down.

Complete revisions will not be ready until next August, the report said. At that time, breakdowns by state will be available.

The preliminary statistics, although showing reduced net farm income by year, still show relatively sharp increases from one year to the next beginning in 1972.

As published earlier, 1972 net farm income was a record $19.7 billion, up from $15.2 billion in 1971. The revision put 1972 at $17.6 billion, still a record, compared with the revised 1971 income of $13 billion.

Last year, USDA had reported earlier, farmers netted another record of $26.1 billion. The revised figure is $24.4 billion.

Impeachment Seen As Political

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio State University assistant professor of history said Monday that impeachment was intended to be a "remedy primarily for a political act."

"The American people have come to expect impeachment should be non-partisan," said Dr. Michael L. Benedict. "The view has changed from, 'Is he guilty of impeachable offenses?' to whether he's the target of a partisan campaign."

"The oft stated fear that impeachment might be tinged with partisanship, repeated by commentators, newspapers and our pusillanimous Congress testify to that," Benedict added.

Allocations Made To Area Schools

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson's office has distributed the February allocations to Ohio schools. Included in these allocations amounting to a total of $41,134,473.99, was $171,608.30 allocated to the schools in Pickaway County.

Circleville City schools received $59,762.08; Logan Elm Local District, $35,153.50; Teays Valley Local District, $43,503.61; Westfall Local District, $33,189.11. A direct allotment to the county board was $6,221.87 plus allocations for each of the local districts bringing the total allotment to the county board to $13,300.62.

State School Foundation subsidy payments are sent to the 88 county auditors, who distribute the amounts due to the district within the respective counties.

John Glenn Signs Fair Campaign Code

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former astronaut John Glenn, declaring he fears the Senate race in Ohio this year may degenerate "into a name-calling or propaganda contest," says he's signed the Code of Fair Campaign practices.

Glenn Tuesday challenged his opponent in the campaign for the Democratic nomination, Sen. Howard M. Metzgerbaum, D-Ohio, to do the same.

NOTICE: The above named applicant has applied for an NPDES Permit to discharge into the designated receiving water and requested State Certification of said discharge. The permit will be issued by either the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency or other NPDES issuing authority,
for a term of approximately 5 years.

The applicant manufactures glass
television tube components. This application pertains to an existing discharge. There is one discharge which presently discharges process and non-contact cooling water to the receiving water named above.

On the basis of preliminary staff review and application of applicable standards and regulations, the Regional Administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency or other NPDES issuing authority proposes to issue a permit for the discharge subject to certain effluent limitations and special conditions. The State, after review of all the comments and objections, also proposes to

The application and joint public notice numbers should appear next to the above address on the envelope and on each page of any submitted comments. All comments received no later than 30 days after the joint public notice is issued will be considered in the formulation of final determinations. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency or other NPDES authority will issue final determinations in a timely manner after the expiration of the public comment period.
Copies of all comments and objections received will be transmitted to the State.

The application, proposed permit including proposed effluent limitations,

Barbi Benton Carves Out Career

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Her name is Barbi, and she looks doll-like with her petite face, upturned nose and long, perfectly coiffed brown hair.

But, as Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner has discovered, she doesn't always act as programmed when you wind her up.

Barbi Benton, as the jet set knows well, is Hef's girl. But no longer his roommate.

"I moved into my own apartment five months ago," she remarks. "Why? Because Hef was dating when he was in Chicago, so why shouldn't I be able to date, too?"

"Also he was getting so he never wanted to go outside the house. He was perfectly content to stay home every night, but I like to get out and see what's going on. I must say Hef has improved since I moved into my own apartment. We go out two or three times a week now."

Her world has its drawbacks, such as when the girl wants a career. Barbi, 24, sings Western. Not well, according to critic Hefner.

"He told me I was wasting my money paying for singing lessons," said Barbi. But she persisted, and broke in her act at a San Fernando Valley night club which features top country and Western stars.

She did well enough to get a booking at the Hacienda in Las Vegas, Nev. Hefner grudgingly gave her a warm-up engagement at the Playboy Club in Century City.

Does all this support the cries of feminists that Hefner is an archchauvinist of the male sex?

"Oh, he's a chauvinist, all right," said Barbi. "Like in backgammon. He'll play the game with me at the house, but not when there are men around for tournaments. Then women are barred. His theory is that it doesn't prove anything to beat a woman at backgammon."

Barbi Benton, a Sacramento doctor's daughter, is no Judy Holliday out of "Born Yesterday." An A pupil in high school, she came to UCLA and studied pre-med for three years. Her zeal to follow the family profession — her grandfather, grandmother and two aunts were doctors — began to diminish when she had to dissect animals.

Besides, she was starting to moonlight as a model and bit player. One of her assignments was to provide decoration for the "Playboy after Dark" television series. Hefner chose her to be the show's hostess.

"He used to pick me up for dates in his big, black limousine," she recalled. "All 13 floors of students would empty down to see who it was. Hef got very upset." The problem was solved when she moved in as hostess of Hefner's Bel-Air manse.

Barbi's 34-24-34 has appeared in Playboy in the customary pose for beauties in that magazine, and she admitted "my family was ready to disown me." They have mellowed since.

Barbi said she would like to marry and start a family before she is 30. Has Hefner asked her? "I'll never tell," she replied.

Society Appeals Share Order

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — The Madison County Historical Society has appealed a court ruling ordering it to share a $250,000 damage payment with a Columbus couple.

The payment stemmed from the wrecking of the historic Alder Chapel Church on May 5, 1969.

The historical society claimed title by deed to the church, which had stood near the home of Madison County's first white settler.

However, a common pleas court order Jan. 22 said the payment must be shared with Margaret and Alex Dombey, who also claimed title to the church.

Farmers' Income Less Than Thought

WASHINGTON (AP) — New figures by the Agriculture Department show farmers netted $22.1 billion less during the past decade than previously computed by government economists. The new figures are "proposed revisions" that take into account a broader base of farm expenses and income sources than analysts had used earlier. Revisions were made back to 1959.

A new farm income situation report Monday by the Economic Research Service showed larger gains in expenses than for gross income, meaning that net farm income for those years was revised down.

Complete revisions will not be ready until next August, the report said. At that time, breakdowns by state will be available.

The preliminary statistics, although showing reduced net farm income by year, still show relatively sharp increases from one year to the next beginning in 1972.

As published earlier, 1972 net farm income was a record $19.7 billion, up from $15.2 billion in 1971. The revision put 1972 at $17.6 billion, still a record, compared with the revised 1971 income of $13 billion.

Last year, USDA had reported earlier, farmers netted another record of $26.1 billion. The revised figure is $24.4 billion.

Impeachment Seen As Political

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio State University assistant professor of history said Monday that impeachment was intended to be a "remedy primarily for a political act." "The American people have come to expect impeachment should be non-partisan," said Dr. Michael L. Benedict. "The view has changed from, 'Is he guilty of impeachable offenses?' to whether he's the target of a partisan campaign."

"The oft stated fear that impeachment might be tinged with partisanship, repeated by commentators, newspapers and our pusillanimous Congress testify to that," Benedict added.

Allocations Made To Area Schools

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson's office has distributed the February allocations to Ohio schools. Included in these allocations amounting to a total of $41,134,473.99, was $171,608.30 allocated to the schools in Pickaway County.

Circleville City schools received $59,762.08; Logan Elm Local District, $35,153.50; Teays Valley Local District, $43,503.61; Westfall Local District, $33,189.11. A direct allotment to the county board was $6,221.87 plus allocations for each of the local districts bringing the total allotment to the county board to $13,300.62.

State School Foundation subsidy payments are sent to the 88 county auditors, who distribute the amounts due to the district within the respective counties.

John Glenn Signs Fair Campaign Code

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former astronaut John Glenn, declaring he fears the Senate race in Ohio this year may degenerate "into a name-calling or propaganda contest," says he's signed the Code of Fair Campaign Practices.

Glenn Tuesday challenged his opponent in the campaign for the Democratic nomination, Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, to do the same.

Name and Address of Facility where Discharge Occurs: Radio Corporation of America, 1650 South Route 23, Circleville,
Ohio 43113

Receiving Water: Scioto River via a drainage ditch

NOTICE: The above named applicant has applied for an NPDES Permit to discharge into the designated receiving water and requested State Certification of said discharge. The permit will be issued by either the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency or other NPDES issuing authority,
for a term of approximately 5 years.

The applicant manufactures glass
television tube components. This application pertains to an existing discharge. There is one discharge which presently discharges process and non-contact cooling water to the receiving water named above.

On the basis of preliminary staff review
and application of applicable standards and regulations, the Regional Administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
or other NPDES issuing authority proposes to issue a permit for the discharge subject to certain effluent limitations and special conditions. The State, after review of all the comments and objections, also proposes to issue a permit pursuant to Section 401 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended. State certification pursuant to Section 401 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended. State certification will not be necessary if the NPDES Permit issuing authority is granted to the State prior to issuance.

The proposed determination to issue an NPDES Permit is tentative. Interested persons are invited to submit written comments upon the proposed discharge.
Comments should be submitted in person or by mail no later than 30 days after the joint public notice of this application is issued.
Deliver or mail all comments to:

Mrs. Carolyn Cates
Region V, Permit Branch
U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
1 North Wacker Drive
Chicago, Illinois 60606

The application and joint public notice
numbers should appear next to the above address on the envelope and on each page of any submitted comments. All comments received no later than 30 days after the joint public notice is issued will be considered in the formulation of final determinations. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency or other NPDES authority will issue final determinations in a timely manner after the expiration of the public comment period.
Copies of all comments and objections
received will be transmitted to the State.

The application, proposed permit including proposed effluent limitations, special conditions, comments received and other documents are available for inspection and may be copied at a cost of 20 cents per
Agency at anytime between 9:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Copies of the Joint Public Notice are available at no
Environmental Protection Agency.

Please bring the foregoing to the attention of persons whom you know would be interested in this matter.

Barbi Benton Carves Out Career

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Her name is Barbi, and she looks doll-like with her petite face, upturned nose and long, perfectly coiffed brown hair.

But, as Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner has discovered, she doesn't always act as programmed when you wind her up.

Barbi Benton, as the jet set knows well, is Hef's girl. But no longer his roommate.

"I moved into my own apartment five months ago," she remarks. "Why? Because Hef was dating when he was in Chicago, so why shouldn't I be able to date, too?"

"Also he was getting so he never wanted to go outside the house. He was perfectly content to stay home every night, but I like to get out and see what's going on. I must say Hef has improved since I moved into my own apartment. We go out two or three times a week now."

Her world has its drawbacks, such as when the girl wants a career.

Barbi, 24, sings Western. Not well, according to critic Hefner.

"He told me I was wasting my money paying for singing lessons," said Barbi. But she persisted, and broke in her act at a San Fernando Valley night club which features top country and Western stars.

She did well enough to get a booking at the Hacienda in Las Vegas, Nev. Hefner grudgingly gave her a warm-up engagement at the Playboy Club in Century City.

Does all this support the cries of feminists that Hefner is an archchauvinist of the male sex?

"Oh, he's a chauvinist, all right," said Barbi. "Like in backgammon. He'll play the game with me at the house, but not when there are men around for tournaments. Then women are barred. His theory is that it doesn't prove anything to beat a woman at backgammon."

Barbi Benton, a Sacramento doctor's daughter, is no Judy Holliday out of "Born Yesterday." An A pupil in high school, she came to UCLA and studied pre-med for three years. Her zeal to follow the family profession — her grandfather, grandmother and two aunts were doctors — began to diminish when she had to dissect animals.

Besides, she was starting to moonlight as a model and bit player. One of her assignments was to provide decoration for the "Playboy after Dark" television series. Hefner chose her to be the show's hostess.

"He used to pick me up for dates in his big, black limousine," she recalled. "All 13 floors of students would empty down to see who it was. Hef got very upset." The problem was solved when she moved in as hostess of Hefner's Bel-Air manse.

Barbi's 34-24-34 has appeared in Playboy in the customary pose for beauties in that magazine, and she admitted "my family was ready to disown me." They have mellowed since.

BIG BEAR - FIRST & FINEST SUPERMARKET IN CIRCLEVILLE!

Values In Town

WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES IN ORDER TO BE FAIR TO ALL OUR CUSTOMERS

To most shoppers, value means buying best quality products at lowest possible prices. That's what value means at Big Bear, too. But value means even more than that to us. When you shop in the bright and cheery, spotlessly clean environment of a Big Bear Store . . . when you enjoy being served by pleasant people in pleasant surroundings . . . then we think you'll agree that for the place to get the most value for your shopping dollars, BIG BEAR is the best value supermarket in town!

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

In a previous "Washington Report," I stressed the utter absurdity of surrendering control of the Panama Canal, a proposal perfectly illustrating the gravely misguided direction and wastefulness of our foreign aid programs. There would be more serious problems for the United States in terms of international defense and trade. In fact, a closer examination of the almost certain after effects of signing over the canal to the highly unstable Panamanian government are truly horrifying.

As the owner and custodian of the Panama Canal, the United States has served the world well. In accordance with the 1903 treaty, she has maintained the canal as an international public service and has never used its possession for any political advantage. In fact, vessels of all lands are allowed passage indiscriminately and the toll rates have not been raised since 1914.

At the same time, over 70 per cent of the traffic through the Panama Canal either originates or terminates in the United States, a fact which underlines its crucial economic importance to our nation. Yet, we would be handing over the control of our trade traffic through the canal to a highly questionable overseer. The present Panamanian government is a leftist, anti-American military junta which seized power in 1968 by deposing the country's last constitutionally elected president. The government then abolished the General Assembly and declared that if the U.S. did not relinquish the Canal Zone by treaty, it would march in and seize the area by force. That is not a factor to be taken lightly when the bulk of our trade is dependent on use of the Panama Canal. I doubt that the low tolls and accessibility to the canal would remain, and drastic changes to either would have a severely crippling effect on our economy. It is a risk which we do not need, nor can we afford, to take.

But over and above the foreseeable trade problems, what concerns me the most are the dangers to American defense and security we would most certainly incur by giving up possession of the Panama Canal. It is truly the "jugular vein" of our hemispheric defense and an absolute essential to American maintenance of an effective two-ocean navy. This matter is intensified greatly when one considers that the Soviet navy — detente and arms limitation talks or not — is increasing its pressure and control in nearly all waters and strategic inlets and making constant advances in the Caribbean area.

The communist factor is another one not to be taken lightly. Obtaining ownership and control of the Panama Canal from the United States has been a longtime goal of the Russians. Even during the Russian revolution, one American journalist reported that Lenin realized the importance of the canal and was determined to force the United States to give up unilateral control of the waterway.

Furthermore, Russia has constantly supported the efforts of Panama to gain control of the canal. It has been reported that the Russians have expressed an interest in building a new sea level canal or modifying the present canal to handle larger vessels, similar to the manner in which the Russians did the Aswan Dam for the Egyptians. Under these circumstances, if the canal ever becomes totally owned and controlled by Panama, it may very well become a victim of Russian takeover because Panama will not be able to resist the pressure the Russians no doubt will apply.

I do not like the outlook one bit, for we would be giving up a lot more than 53 miles of locks and waterways. We would be surrendering our commerce and our national security, playing right into the hands of the Russians — detente or not. It must not be permitted to happen under any circumstances, and I intend to register my absolute opposition to any proposal giving up American control of the Panama Canal if and when it comes before the Congress.

Pamphlet Draws Mixed Response

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A pamphlet put out by the Governor's Youth Action Program has drawn mixed reaction from school principals and librarians.

The Ohio Association of Secondary School Principals last weekend passed a "resolution of concern" about the pamphlet, which outlines students' rights in personal searches, freedom of assembly, suspension, expulsion and corporal punishment.

The publication, called "Juventas," also offers Youth Commission aid to students in trouble or organizing student programs.

Robert Cecile, a member of the Youth Commission in charge of the program, said the commission had received hundreds of letters from principals and librarians asking it to continue publishing the pamphlet.

Cecile said he thought that the primary problem among those who complained was the pamphlet's language.

"It was written by young people for young people," he said.

"Some of the terms, such as 'hassle,' were misconstrued," he said. "Some thought we were trying to picture administrators as bad guys, but we have asked the principals to write articles on student responsibilities for the pamphlet."

Cecile said that the commission has agreed to submit future issues of the publication to the principals' association for review.

"We genuinely want to cooperate, but it won't be censorship," Cecile assured.

Fair Skies Favor U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair weather favored most of the nation today, marred only by rainy weather in the Pacific Northwest and some snow in the northern Rockies.

Freezing temperatures again chilled much of the Deep South, extending south as far as central Florida during the night.

Mullan, Idaho, with almost 2 feet of snow on the ground, got another 4 inches. Eugene, Ore., measured rainfall at nearly 1.3 inches Tuesday.

A strong system of cold air passing through south-central Montana produced wind gusts to 75 miles per hour at Livingston.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 5 at Massena, N.Y., to 63 at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Bakers, Butz Escalate Bread War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A growing debate between bread bakers and administration farm officials over U.S. wheat supplies is beginning to sound like a family squabble about whose breakfast toast is burning.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says the American Bakers Association is wrong in claiming consumers will run out of bread this spring and that the price could soar to $1 per loaf.

The bakers, in a "Save Our Bread" rally Tuesday on Capitol Hill, said Butz has a credibility gap that "makes the Grand Canyon seem small by comparison."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a frequent critic of how the 1972 wheat sale to the Soviet Union was handled, joined the battle Tuesday. He accused the Agriculture Department of arrogance in the wheat affair by not keeping better track of grain supplies.

The National Association of Wheat Growers, by its character not a disinterested party, chimed in with claims that producers in the midwest have sizable quantities of wheat on hand if transportation is made available to get it to market.

The USDA, meanwhile, appears to be sticking to its forecast that wheat exports will be 1.2 billion bushels for the year ending June 30. Bakers say export listings point to shipments exceeding that level by well over 100 million bushels. The result, they say, will be a bare wheat cupboard by late spring.

The thrusts continued even as Butz left town for a series of speaking engagements. Reacting to Jackson's comments Tuesday, Butz aides here quickly issued a statement attributed to the secretary at a meeting in Indianapolis later in the day.

"It doesn't make sense for even a presidential aspirant to abandon the people of his state at a critical time in their economic lives," Butz said, pointing out that Jackson's home state is a leading wheat producer.

Today, in remarks for another meeting in Columbus, Ohio, Butz continued his lathering of bakers and others he says want to impose strict controls on farm exports.

"The retail price of a one-pound loaf of white bread has increased nine cents in the last five years. Of this increase, 3.8 cents has been accounted for by the increase in the price of wheat at the farm," Butz said.

The largest portion of the increase, 5.2 cents, has been the result of higher non-wheat costs, he said.

"A good chunk of this is associated with the baking industry, the very ones who are howling the loudest at the moment," Butz said. "By far and away the big increase was labor costs. At least a part of these costs are associated labor inefficiencies which are structured into working rules and union contracts in various sectors of the industry," he said.

Guaranteed

Train Derailment Cleared At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Akron firemen said heavy cranes were used to clear a Belt Railroad Co. crossing on Akron's near East Side after five railroad tank cars containing chlorine and caustic soda derailed Tuesday.

Firemen said a leak in one tank was plugged quickly, and there were no injuries. However, two fire department pumps stood by as the 90,000 pound tanks were transferred to trucks.

Cause of the derailment was not determined.

controls on farm exports.

"The retail price of a one-pound loaf of white bread has increased nine cents in the last five years. Of this increase, 3.8 cents has been accounted for by the increase in the price of wheat at the farm," Butz said.

The largest portion of the increase, 5.2 cents, has been the result of higher non-wheat costs, he said.

"A good chunk of this is associated with the baking industry, the very ones who are howling the loudest at the moment," Butz said. "By far and away the big increase was labor costs. At least a part of these costs are associated labor inefficiencies which are structured into working rules and union contracts in various sectors of the industry," he said.

Guaranteed
EXTENDED TO FEB. 28th!

Until January 31st, your Ridge Homes dealer can give you a new written price guarantee that saves you hundreds of dollars on a new home.

Today, building costs are skyrocketing... and new home prices everywhere are going up hundreds and hundreds of dollars. But if you act now, you can protect your family's dream of owning a new home with Ridge Homes' written price Guarantee. It assures you the Fall '73 price on all our models.

How the Guarantee Works

To get your price Guarantee, you must see your Ridge Homes dealer and make a refundable deposit of only $100 before the January 31st deadline. Then, pick out the exact model you want... and accept delivery on your new home as late as June 30th.

If you change your mind later, for any reason whatsoever, Ridge Homes will refund your deposit, every penny of it. You can't lose. You'll be saving hundreds of dollars over those higher '74 new home prices... and with plenty of time to firm up your plans to build.

Ridge Homes' convenient mortgage program.

And that's not all. If your local interest rates drop later, you can reduce your monthly payments by converting to a local mortgage. And with Ridge Homes you won't pay the costly prepayment penalty that most others charge.

Don't delay—see your Ridge Homes dealer TODAY. Make your $100 refundable deposit and get your price Guarantee before the January 31st deadline. Then, you'll be protected no matter how high prices go, and you'll be saving hundreds of dollars on your new home.

But you must get this Guarantee before January 31st.

Wildlife Biologist Likes Being 'Close To Nature'

IN THE BROOKS RANGE, Alaska (AP) — Spencer Linderman likes

Executive's Wife Succumbs At Lima

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday for Mrs. Robert C. Barton, 64, wife of a retired newspaper executive, who died Tuesday after a long illness.

Her husband was a former editor of the Elyria Chronicle Telegram, the Lima News and the old Lima Citizen. He also is a former president of the Associated Press Society of Ohio.

But the lifestyle he has chosen does not always provide these civilized amenities. Linderman, who grew up in Kansas, has abandoned the hubbub of the "lower 48" for the wilds of Alaska. There he lives in a cabin near Fairbanks with his wife, a former school teacher from Georgia. They have electricity, but no running water or indoor plumbing.

Linderman holds a degree in wildlife biology from Kansas State University and says he would like to move even farther back into the wilderness of northern Alaska, away from the few modern conveniences he has in his life.

In a recent letter he wrote that "To be close to nature is sometimes to be ecstatic at scenes of overpowering grandeur. But more often, to me, it's to be quietly reflective on the scheme of daily life and death which seems to form the warp and woof of real life and fills out its flesh too."

"Sometimes the closeness to nature is being half-frozen, hungry, wet, with the agony of time that stretches endurance," he wrote, and added:

"To know the great delicious joy of being dry, warm, and having a full belly: The joy of these last three things has been continually impressed on me, till my appreciation of them has become a simple code of life."

Linderman moved to Alaska seven years ago and recently has worked for the Alaska Fish and Game Dept. and is involved also in real estate dealings.

Ross To Step Down

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Montgomery County Republican Chairman Charles Ross said Tuesday he will step down when his term expires May 15 to work in the senatorial campaign of Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk.

Overpopulation Of Pets Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Formation of a non-profit Ohio Animal Health Foundation to fight pet overpopulation has been announced by veterinarians meeting in convention here this week.

Dr. David M. Drenan, president of the Ohio Veterinary Medical Association, said board members of the foundation will accept gifts to be used for a variety of animal health problems.

The Foundation's first concern will be the establishment of a program of low-cost neutering of pets to curb growing numbers of stray, unwanted and potentially dangerous pets, Drenan said.

Charge Steel Firm In Pollutants Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland firm, the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., has been charged in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court with allowing pollutants to seep into Big Creek on the city's west side.

Hussein To Yield Over West Bank

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein may soon abandon his efforts to regain control of the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, diplomatic observers in Amman believe.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's visit, expected Saturday, may mark the turning point in Hussein's policy, they say.

Hussein is thought to be turning toward the view that a fledgling Palestinian state, made up of the West Bank and Gaza, would draw hundreds of thousands of Arab refugees, and harsh economic realities would then force the state to seek close ties with Jordan — on Hussein's terms.

Then his 1972 plan for a federation between the Palestinian territory on both sides of the Jordan could come into effect without the present bitter opposition of the Palestinians and other Arab states.

The king also would leave to the Palestinian organizations the task of negotiating Israel's withdrawal from the territory seized in the 1967 war.

But informants say he will first seek Kissinger's view on a Palestinian

Jordan has always said that, as the West Bank was taken from it, it should regain it. Hussein pledged that he would then grant the West Bankers an internationally controlled plebiscite to decide their future.

But he has been confronted with massive foreign and internal opposition to even a temporary return of the Amman administration. The other Arab states back the Palestine Liberation Organization and its anti-Hussein stand, and a large majority of the West Bankers are believed opposed to a return of "Hussein and his Bedouins."

Influential Jordanians also have pressed the king to let the Palestinians go their own way.

One vital question remains: Will Israel, which has consistently opposed a Palestinian state, give up the West Bank peacefully? Diplomats in Amman believe that only the United States could get the Israelis to agree to this, and then only by giving Israel the firmest guarantees.

Meet To Hear Gilligan, Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A day-long seminar sponsored Saturday by the Central Ohio Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalists society, will feature separate appearances by Gov. John Gilligan and former Gov. James Rhodes.

Rhodes, who served as governor from 1963 to 1971, is seeking the Republican nomination again, and could oppose Gilligan, a Democrat, in the November election.

Rhodes will open the program at Ohio State University at 9 a.m. Gilligan's remarks are scheduled for a luncheon.

The seminar will deal with the government and the news media. There will be several panel discussions involving newsmen, government officials and public relations personnel.

Gilligan Petitions Face Court Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate James D. Nolan says he will ask the Ohio Supreme Court to rule on the validity of Gov. John J. Gilligan's re-election petitions.

Nolan's move to force the governor off the May primary ballot was rejected Tuesday by Secretary of State Ted Brown.

Brown ruled that Gilligan may list his residence as Cincinnati, the place he lived before he moved to Columbus as governor.

Nolan contends this practice is against the intent of Ohio law.

Nolan and two write-in candidates oppose Gilligan for the Democratic nomination in May.

Nolan, at a brief hearing in Brown's office, submitted copies of Gilligan's federal income tax returns for 1970-1973 which gave the governor's address as the governor's mansion in Columbus.

PUCO Urged Not To Hurt Development

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio was urged Tuesday not to impair community development in its efforts to conserve energy.

David Sweet, director of the state Department of Economic and Community Development, said new rules regarding utility promotion should not infringe on industrial development.

Sweet said he agreed with the PUCO that promotional activities which encourage wasteful use of energy should be curtailed.

But he said utilities work with local organizations to encourage development, and that shouldn't be discouraged.

Sweet said the state's labor force is constantly growing, and jobs must be available for them.

The PUCO is preparing a rule on promotional activity. An interim order now bans advertisements except to educate the public on how to conserve energy.

An earlier order also banned utility contributions to chambers of commerce. That clause has been rescinded.

Sweet said he was trying to make sure the clause doesn't appear in the final order.

"In many communities, the chamber of commerce is the only organization working at the local level," Sweet said. "The chamber programs are a rallying point for improvement throughout Ohio."

Richard DeChant of the Greater Cleveland Growth Association told the commission that Ohio will need 800,000 additional jobs by 1982 to keep up with its growing work force.

He said utility contributions to local development organizations are vital to finding the jobs.

Watergate Looms Over Ohio Vote

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A pair of former Cincinnati mayors, one a labor-backed Democrat and the other a Republican, head into the final week of their congressional campaign with Watergate a quiet, but ever-present issue.

Next Tuesday's 1st District election is drawing national interest as the latest test of the 1974 political pulse.

Matched are Democrat Thomas A. Luken and Republican Willis D. Gradison Jr., longtime city council colleagues.

Luken, 48, hopes to become the third straight Democrat to capture a special Congressional election in traditionally-Republican territory this year.

Campaigning with the slogan, "Let's send a signal to Washington," Luken faces a major challenge. Though he was the highest vote-getter in city council history, he is attempting to become the fourth Democrat to win the Republican 1st District since the turn of the century.

The last Democrat to win was now Gov. John J. Gilligan, who rode the coattails of President Johnson's 1964 landslide. Gilligan lasted only one term, losing to Sen. Robert Taft Jr.

Tuesday's election is for the unexpired term of former U.S. Rep. William Keating, who resigned to become president of The Cincinnati Enquirer.

A new tunnel under the harbor at Hong Kong was opened recently, ending the total dependence on water transportation.

He also submitted copies of vehicle registration certificates in which members of the Gilligan family had listed their present address as Columbus, and their previous address as Cincinnati.

Nolan's attorney said he would file a brief with the state Supreme Court by the end of the week.

Brown still must rule on whether a Democratic candidate for secretary of state, William K. Brown, will be allowed to place his name on the May ballot.

William Brown has indicated he wants to be listed as William "Bill" Brown. However, the secretary of state has said voters might confuse the candidate William Brown with Ohio Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, who is running for re-election.

The attorney general is commonly known as Bill Brown.

A hearing has been set for March 5 on whether Brown used a false name in circulating his petitions.

All other candidate petitions for the May primary have been certified, the secretary of state said.

Village Policemen Stage Walkout

GENEVA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ohio (AP) — Ashtabula County sheriff's deputies were keeping an eye today on the village of Geneva-on-the-Lake, whose 24 part time patrolmen halted their patrols Monday night.

The patrols stopped after Village Council voted unanimously to contract for protection from the sheriff's department and to stop paying the policemen.

The deputies were watching the village pending signing of a formal contract, which would cost $30,000 a year.

Grand Jury Hears Del Corso

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Former Ohio Adj. Gen. Sylvester Del Corso says the National Guard would have welcomed a federal grand jury investigation immediately after the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

He talked with newsmen late Tuesday after being questioned by the panel for about six hours, but declined to discuss his testimony or the questions he was asked.

As adjutant general, Del Corso was commander of the Ohio National Guard when four students were killed and nine wounded May 4, 1970, as guardsmen opened fire on students demonstrating against U.S. military involvement in Cambodia.

The shootings ended four days of antiwar demonstrations at Kent State.

John McElroy, administrative assistant to former Gov. James A. Rhodes, also was subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury Tuesday but was told to return today after he received his pretestimony briefing from Justice Department attorneys. McElroy drew up the proclamation, signed by Rhodes, that sent guardsmen to the Kent State campus May 2 after a Reserve Officers Training Corps building was burned during a nighttime demonstration.

Del Corso's appearance before the federal panel was the longest for any witness since the investigation was started Dec. 18.

He said he found the jurors "were cordial" and that he "answered all their questions."

Commenting on the delay in the federal grand jury probe, Del Corso told newsmen:

"I wish the grand jury had come immediately after the fact. The facts would have been better brought to mind."

He said the delay "may make it more difficult to get at all the facts."

"We have nothing to hide," Del Corso replied when asked if he was apprehensive about appearing before the grand jury.

Asked if he thought the investigation would result in indictment of guardsmen, he said, "I'm certain that the results of the grand jury will be accurate."

He said earlier that he thought the jurors were "doing a comprehensive job" and that he hoped they would "come up with all the facts."

Other witnesses Tuesday included Lt. Charles J. Barnette, who at the time of the shootings was Del Corso's liaison officer, and Maj. Arthur Wallick, who commanded the Guard's 145th Infantry. Units from Wallick's command were on the campus.

Wolfpack Tops North Carolina

North Carolina State awarded Tommy Burleson the game ball, but the 7-foot-4 Wolfpack center only accepted half of it.
"I couldn't have played any worse than in the first half," said Burleson, who might have received a deflated game ball had one been given at the half.
But Burleson improved his three-point total at the half by scoring 19 points in the second half and leading top-ranked North Carolina State to a 83-72 Atlantic Coast Conference college basketball victory over fourth-rated North Carolina Tuesday night.

It was first game ball ever given to a basketball player at N.C. State.
In other games involving Top 20 teams, No. 2 Notre Dame downed Ball State 93-69 and 15th-ranked Kansas beat Nebraska 51-46.
At the half, Wolfpack Coach Norm Sloane was worried about the game, not the game ball.
"We didn't play well in the first half," said Sloane, whose club now draws a bye in the first round of the ACC tournament, which determines the conference's representative in the NCAA tourney. "It was like hand-to-hand combat. They were laying all over Tommy."

Ball State, 14-11, played Notre Dame, 23-1, even for the game's first 10 minutes before John Shumate and Adrian Dantley went to work, leading the Fighting Irish on 13-2 spurt enroute to a 50-38 halftime lead.
Shumate, a 6-9 junior center, led the way with 31 points and 15 rebounds while Dantley, a freshman, chipped in with 26 points and seven rebounds.

Kansas outscored Nebraska 16-2 midway in the second half, but the Cornhuskers came back with eight straight points to take a 40-39 lead with nine minutes to go.
Elsewhere in college basketball, Lon Kruger dropped in two free throws with nine seconds remaining to give Kansas State a 69-67 victory over Missouri; Texas remained in a tie with Texas Tech for the Southwest Conference basketball lead with a 99-82 victory over Arkansas behind Larry Robinson's 26 points, and Rick Bullock's 41 points helped Texas Tech keep pace with a 77-66 victory over Texas Christian.

Also, Bruce Parkinson's 18 points and a second-half surge carried Purdue past Bowling Green 99-83; sophomore guard Walter Luckett fired in 37 points to lead Ohio University to a 78-69 victory over Penn State, and Kentucky State, with freshman Gerald Cunningham's 28 points, rolled to its 17th straight victory, a 84-80 decision over Northern Kentucky.

Playoff Site Picked By MAC

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mid-American Conference Commissioner Fred Jacoby has announced St. John Arena at Ohio State University will be the site of any playoff games needed to determine a league basketball champion.
Jacoby said playoff games would be staged next Monday and Wednesday nights. They will be necessary only if Toledo, Bowling Green and Ohio University wind up in a three-way tie for first place.

Campy Russell Tops Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP) — Campy Russell, credited by many for helping make the Michigan Wolverines into a contender, has been named the Big Ten basketball player of The Week by The Associated Press.
Russell, a 6-foot-8, 215-pound junior from Pontiac, helped the Wolverines to a pair of victories over the weekend to keep their title hopes alive in the Big Ten.

Purdue Defeats BGSU

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Their pressure defense hurt us and pushed us out too far," Bowling Green basketball Coach Pat Haley said Tuesday night after his Falcons dropped a 99-83 decision to Purdue.
"We didn't get any easy shots and Purdue did," Haley said.
The teams were nearly even in field goals, with Purdue holding a 40-37 edge, but the Boilermakers converted 10 more free throws than Bowling Green.

Bruce Parkinson paced the Big Ten team with 18 points and John Garrett added 17.
"Garrett was eight of 10 in the game and you can't let that happen," Haley said. "Parkinson is better than I thought."

The Falcons, who hope to beat Ohio University Saturday to gain a share of the Mid-American conference title, stayed with the stronger Boilermakers for much of the first period until Purdue surged to a 52-41 halftime advantage.

Skip Howard led Bowling Green with 20 points.
Ohio University, also playing outside the MAC, defeated Penn State 78-69 in a come-from-behind effort led by Walter Luckett with 37 points.

After trailing the entire first half, the Bobcats charged back after intermission and took the lead for good at 54-53 on a jump shot by Ulice Payne with 9:45 to play.

George Green added 14 points for Ohio, now 15-10 for the season. The Nittany Lions saw their season mark drop to 14-11.

Wittenberg captured its seventh Ohio Conference championship by beating Ohio Northern 62-48 in the league tournament finale at Baldwin-Wallace Tuesday night.

The triumph sends the Tigers to the NCAA Great Lakes Regional playoffs at Evansville, Ind., March 7.

Elsewhere, Wilmington downed Cedarville 98-89 as Fletcher Yates tossed in 25 points, and Wright State posted its 15th straight home victory at the expense of Thomas More, 80-68.

Wittenberg Wins OC Cage Crown

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Wittenberg regained its pride as well as the Ohio Conference basketball championship by defeating Ohio Northern 62-48 Tuesday night at Baldwin-Wallace.

"The team did a better job defensively," Wittenberg Coach Bob Hamilton said, comparing last night's win with a 49-43 defeat suffered at the hands of Ohio Northern during the regular season.

"We contained them and forced them into playing styles they are not accustomed to," Hamilton said.

But Hamilton said the big difference was offense.

"That's where we lost the game the first time around," he said. "Our shooting was great tonight and that's a very important part of the game."

The Tigers shot 57 per cent from the floor and were led by Jim Evans with 18 points and Eddy Ford with 15.

The Tigers took the lead for good with 3:47 remaining in the first half of two jumpshots by Skip Freeman that made the score 25-21.

In the second half the Polar Bears scored only one point during a nine-minute stretch and the Tigers tallied 14 to hold a secure 54-38 lead with 7:04 remaining.

Kyle Rote Jr. Top Superstar; Garners $53,400

ROTONDA, Fla. (AP) — Will $53,400 spoil Kyle Rote Jr.?

"I'm the same jerk I've always been," the 23-year-old wonder kid reassured his friends and legion of new admirers after winning the $123,400 Superstars finals Tuesday.

The two-day victory over some of the world's most talented and celebrated athletes in a sort of sports minideathlon suddenly has projected the youthful Texan from the virtual obscurity of a $1,400-a-season soccer player to national prominence as "the most super of the superstars."

Agents will be dogging his doorstep. He will become the target of operators and manipulators. He will be besieged with offers for public appearances and television commercials.

"I don't intend to get set up with a popcorn popper," Kyle said firmly. He said it seemingly without malice but certainly with disdain for a new life of raking in the money for money's sake.

A ministerial student who owns one car and two bicycles and who lives in a one-bedroom rented apartment in Dallas with his blonde wife, Mary Lynne, Rote emphasized that there will be no change in his living style.

Kyle, whose father was a football star at Southern Methodist University and then with the New York Giants, made a runaway of the second annual Superstars spectacle by scoring 37 points on the opening day, then holding off the strong challenge of defender Bob Seagren, the pole vaulter, and Dick Anderson, star safety of Miami's Super Bowl champion Dolphins.

When the scores were totaled for the two exhausting days of competition in 10 sports, of which each competitor could choose seven, Rote had a total of 44 points. Seagren followed with 38 and Anderson was third with 37. Points were awarded on a 10-7-4-2-1 scale for the five top finishers.

Rote won $25,000 for placing first and collected $13,200 in bonus money — $300 for each point. The $15,200 he won in the qualifying trials boosted his over-all take to $53,400.

Seagren wound up with $26,400 counting $15,000 for second place, and Anderson with $10,000 third money and a total of $21,100, exclusive of preliminary earnings.

Fairmont State Tops College Cage Ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fairmont State drew 15 firstplace votes and moved into the No. 1 spot Tuesday in the Associated Press College Division weekly basketball ratings.

Fairmont State beat West Virginia State and Central State of Ohio last week and climbed back on top when Kentucky Wesleyan, rated No. 1 a week ago, lost to Kentucky State.

That loss tumbled Kentucky Wesleyan from first to third place in the weekly poll of sportswriters and broadcasters, behind Tennessee-Chattanooga, which held its No. 2 ranking. Previously unranked Kentucky State was voted 10th among the AP's Top 15 teams.

Fairmont State, 24-2, received 536 points in the balloting. UT-Chattanooga, 20-4, and Kentucky Wesleyan, 18-4, each received three No. 1 votes, but the Tennessee school outpolled the Panthers on points, 493-463.

Evansville, Morgan State and Jackson State held the next three spots in the voting. Evansville, 18-5, had three top votes and 453 points; Morgan State, 21-4, two top votes and 303 points, and Jackson State, 22-4, collected 229 points.

The other first place ballots were scattered. Tenth-ranked Kentucky State and No. 14 Gardner-Webb received two each while No. 7 Old Dominion, No. 8 Tennessee State and No. 13 Augustana, Ill., drew one each.

Old Dominion, 18-6, moved up from 10th and Tennessee State, 19-3, moved up from 11th. Alcorn A&M, 21-5 after splitting two games against Southern University, dropped from seventh to ninth and Kentucky State took over 10th place, occupied a week ago by Augustana, Ill.

Completing the Top 15 were Wittenberg, 19-3; Roanoke, 205; Augustana, Ill., which wound up its season with a 20-3 mark; Gardner-Webb, 21-2, and Midwestern, Tex., which dropped from 13th to 15th despite winning all three of its games last week.

Dropped from last week's list were Armstrong State and New Orleans, who had been 14th and 15th, respectively.

Indiana Pacers Top Utah Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Indiana Pacers and Utah Stars have turned things around in opposite directions.

The Pacers have won seven of nine following Tuesday night's 110-94 American Basketball Association victory over Utah while the Stars, who recently won 14 in a row, have now dropped five straight.

However, the first-place Stars still hold an 8½-game lead over the Pacers and Indiana Coach Bob Leonard is just about resigned to scrapping for second place with San Antonio.

In the only other ABA action, the San Diego Conquistadors turned back the Virginia Squires 126-119.

NFL Meet Eyes Game Rule Changes

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — National Football League game officials and game rules themselves were scheduled for hearings today before the 26 club owners at the NFL's annual winter meeting.

The NFL executives spent Tuesday hearing results of a study on artificial turfs which called for standardization of the turfs and banning of conventional football cleats because they increase the probability of serious knee or ankle injuries. They also reviewed plans for next month's contract talks with the Players Association.

No decisions are expected out of today's sessions. The owners are taking a preview look at proposed rules changes to increase game action and competitiveness.

The proposals include eliminating fair catches and moving kickoffs back five yards to improve runback chances. Suggestions to cut down on field goals include moving goal posts to the rear of end zones and to return the ball to the original line of scrimmage rather than the 20-yard stripe when a field goal is missed.

Game officials are scheduled to present arguments for improved pensions and salaries both today and Thursday. Outside of increases given officials with 10 years or more experience, there have been no pay increases for officials in a decade.

An independent committee commissioned by the NFL found that artificial turf negatively affects players' attitudes and performances. The committee explained that artificial turfs vary and with grass changes players' speeds, maneuverability and play timing also change.

And, Glen Williams scored 21 points and Ed Searcy added 18, leading St. John's to its 11th consecutive victory, a 98-72 triumph over Holy Cross; Keith Morris sank two foul shots with 26 seconds left, giving George Washington a 55-54 victory over Georgetown; Charlie Wise's three-point play keyed LaSalle's 78-69 victory over Delaware, and Pete LaCorte's 16 points helped Seton Hall beat Villanova 75-60 in a game called with 14 seconds left because Villanova fans reportedly were throwing balls of paper onto the court.

The three players recently utilized newly available arbitration provisions and won salary squabbles with Griffith. That cost him a pretty penny and some even prettier dollars and where Calvin is concerned, losing money is the root of all evil.

"I'm mad because I've lost three arbitration hearings," Griffith fumed. "It cost me about $15,000. But I'll find some way to get it back by trading them."

Woodson was the first major leaguer to win an arbitration hearing when his $28,500 request was approved over Griffith's $22,500 offer. The 29-year-old right-hander, 10-8 with arm trouble last season, already has asked to be traded. Hise hit .272 and Braun .283.

Elsewhere on the arbitration front, two members of the New York Yankees won their cases (utilityman Bill Sudakis, pitcher Wayne Granger) and two lost (shortstop Gene Michael, utilityman Duke Sims). That may prove a point for those who claim the Yanks are no better than a .500 club.

The best news for the New Yorkers, however, came when pitcher Mel Stottlemyre signed for a reported $87,500.

The National League gave a little ground in its opposition to the designated hitter rule and said its teams could use a DH in road exhibition games against American League clubs.

However, NL President Chub Feeney said neither club could use a DH if the National League team does not agree to it.

Spring training is the time of year when optimism runs rampant and this year is no exception.

General Manager Spec Richardson of the Houston Astros said off-injured pitcher Larry Dierker is "in the best shape he's ever been in at the start of camp."

Skipper Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds said he feels that this year "more than ever" his pitchers reported in good shape.

And Manager Ken Aspromonte of the Cleveland Indians raved about pitchers Brent Strom, Mike Kekich and Cecil Upshaw, who posted a combined 6-19 record a year ago.

"They all looked great," Aspromonte said. "Things are looking better and better. I have to hold back my enthusiasm. It's too early to get excited, but it would be very easy to do so."

vacqua, Baltimore pitcher Wayne Garland, Cincinnati pitcher Pat Zachry, Philadelphia outfielder Jerry Martin and Minnesota infielder Craig Kuskick.

"The team did a better job defensively," Wittenberg Coach Bob Hamilton said, comparing last night's win with a 49-43 defeat suffered at the hands of Ohio Northern during the regular season.

"We contained them and forced them into playing styles they are not accustomed to," Hamilton said.

But Hamilton said the big difference was offense.

"That's where we lost the game the first time around," he said. "Our shooting was great tonight and that's a very important part of the game."

The Tigers shot 57 per cent from the floor and were led by Jim Evans with 18 points and Eddy Ford with 15.

The Tigers took the lead for good with 3:47 remaining in the first half of two jumpshots by Skip Freeman that made the score 25-21.

In the second half the Polar Bears scored only one point during a nine-minute stretch and the Tigers tallied 14 to hold a secure 54-38 lead with 7:04 remaining.

Billingham Set For Big Year

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Jack Billingham, whose career record stood at 44-44 going into the 1973 season, thinks his 19-10 record was a signal "I'm just now coming into my own."

The lanky Cincinnati Reds righthander emerged as the club's top pitcher last season. Armed with new confidence, Billingham has bad news for his National League opposition.

"After last season I feel capable of becoming one of the top pitchers in the league," said the Florida native, who turned 31 last week.

Reds' pitching coach Larry Shepard agreed.

"Jack is at the point where I expect him to blossom," said Shepard.

The difference between mediocrity and a big season? "Concentration," said Billingham.

"I had the good stuff but I didn't know what to do with it. For so many years people had told me I had good stuff. But I wasn't winning."

"Each pitch has to have a meaning. You've got to spot it. I never could do it. O maybe I wasn't ready to become a good pitcher," said 6-foot-4 Billingham.

His seven shutouts in 1973 tied a Reds' club mark last achieved in 1919. He led the league in shutouts and helped the Reds top the National League with 17.

Billingham also topped the league in innings pitched. The strapping workhorse appeared in 293 innings and finished with a respectable 3.04 earned run average.

He's convinced the Reds possess one of baseball's best teams "but we can't turn the right combination to win it all."

"When we lost to the Mets it left me with an empty feeling."

That frustration has left the Reds dedicated to a single goal: The World Series, said Billingham.

Pat Zachry, a righthanded pitcher, came to terms, leaving only Pete Rose and relief pitcher Pedro Borbon unsigned. Borbon sent word he plans to join the team Friday.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may have an urge to gamble on speculative ventures; this, coupled with your innate optimism in money matters, could have a disastrous effect on your resources. Care!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Suggestions and situations could be deceptive now and it may be difficult to make sensible decisions, so stick with routine. Postpone unnecessary action.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Put zest and enthusiasm into your activities. Success can come through your alliances. The "different," if appropriate, could spark day's drive.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Quite unexpectedly, you may be offered the opportunity to do something really BIG, attain a new foothold on the ladder to success. Keep alert and ready to act.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Don't be tricked by the bizarre. Overactivity also unwise. In all situations, look below the surface.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Opportunities indicated which could be overlooked if you are not on the beam, using your mental capacities to their fullest. Keep aims and hopes high.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Listen to new and unique ideas, of course, but don't give up on projects that are going well. Be receptive to new methods, too, but don't go in for fads.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Mixed influences will bring some advantages, some disadvantages. Study all the factors involved in any situation before making decisions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You may find yourself in the midst of controversy. Don't let it stymie your efforts. Rather, get together with opponents and use your fine gifts of mediation to resolve issues.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This is the week John Rich packs it in and leaves "All in the Family."

Unless you watch the credits, you may not be familiar with the name. But John, with his 18-hour days, is as responsible for the success of this top-rated CBS comedy series as anyone.

He's produced or directed every show since its debut in January 1970, most often doing both. In the beginning he directed 37 consecutive shows. He's also the host at the tapings, doing the audience warmup.

Rich, 48, built like a retired pro football player — "This job turned my hair gray and put 20 pounds on me" — leaves Tandem Productions at the end of the week to set up his own production company.

One of his many functions on "All in the Family" was to keep its comedy topical — despite the fact that the shows are taped six weeks before airing.

"Topicality comes to you by reading the newspapers," he said. "It's not by any magic or manipulation. We're just careful of what's in the newspapers. We have our people talking about what America's talking about."

In a show taped last fall Archie Bunker got locked in the cellar when he went down to check his empty oil tank. Rich said, "The original concept was that Edith failed to call the oil people. His line was to be, 'Thank you, Edith.' In rehearsal I thought that was too much responsibility to put on Edith and changed it to 'Thank you, Arabs.'"

The next day the Yom Kippur War broke out in the Middle East and by the time the show was on the air six weeks later we had a full-fledged energy crisis.

Last summer, when the Watergate hearings were under way, some people thought "All in the Family" was reshooting the reruns to include Watergate jokes. "Things were being said the winter before and we had included them," Rich said. "By summer everything was up to date."

Earlier this year they taped a show in which Archie rushes to the hospital after eating some mushrooms he thinks are contaminated. The day of the taping stories began to break that the Food and Drug Administration was recalling cans of mushrooms. The story was still current when the show aired.

"It's like going over Niagara Falls without a net," Rich said. "It would be easy to repeat one strain every week — Archie's bigotry or his dishonesty. You could do it, but I think the public would get bored."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may have an urge to gamble on speculative ventures; this, coupled with your innate optimism in money matters, could have a disastrous effect on your resources. Care!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Suggestions and situations could be deceptive now and it may be difficult to make sensible decisions, so stick with routine. Postpone unnecessary action.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Put zest and enthusiasm into your activities. Success can come through your alliances. The "different," if appropriate, could spark day's drive.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Quite unexpectedly, you may be offered the opportunity to do something really BIG, attain a new foothold on the ladder to success. Keep alert and ready to act.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Don't be tricked by the bizarre. Overactivity also unwise. In all situations, look below the surface.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Opportunities indicated which could be overlooked if you are not on the beam, using your mental capacities to their fullest. Keep aims and hopes high.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Listen to new and unique ideas, of course, but don't give up on projects that are going well. Be receptive to new methods, too, but don't go in for fads.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Mixed influences will bring some advantages, some disadvantages. Study all the factors involved in any situation before making decisions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You may find yourself in the midst of controversy. Don't let it stymie your efforts. Rather, get together with opponents and use your fine gifts of mediation to resolve issues.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Saturn, somewhat adverse, indicates that you may encounter the deceptive and the unscrupulous. Be alert, and don't forsake principles.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Some disturbing elements. But do not let others' misgivings, doubts or quarrels affect your thinking. Stress your innate optimism.

Ethiopian Navy Joins Pay Revolt

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — The Ethiopian navy today joined a revolt for higher pay by soldiers in northern Ethiopia and took over the African nation's Red Sea naval base at Massawa, sources at the base reported.

The rebellion began Tuesday when army troops and a few air force men seized key points in Asmara, Ethiopia's second largest city and the capital of Eritrea province. It is 60 miles south of Masawa.

No violence was reported so far, and Emperor Haile Selassie ordered the army chief of staff to Asmara today to hear the rebels' complaints.

GOP Hears Candidates

Franklin County Prosecuting Attorney George C. Smith was the guest speaker before the Pickaway County Republican Central and Executive committees, county officials, and candidates for county offices.

GEORGE C. SMITH

Smith, seeking the Republican nomination for Ohio Attorney General, spoke at a dinner meeting Tuesday evening at the Pickaway Arms.

Akron Couple Slain In Park

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The bodies of an Akron couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Anthony, were found today face down in the snow of an Akron park, police reported, calling it an execution-style slaying.

Anthony, 47, was clutching a rosary, and his wife was holding a crucifix, police said.

"It looks like the murderer gave them time to pray," Police Detective Frank Davis added.

Carl Bayless of Akron, who will be 18 Thursday, was charged with two counts of aggravated murder.

Anthony was treasurer of Kucko-Hecker Funeral Home, Akron.

Police said robbery appeared to be the motive.

A telephone tip led officers to the bodies before dawn, police added.

Bayless was sentenced to seven years in custody of the Ohio Youth Commission after pleading guilty to killing Francis K. Means in September 1970. Bayless was 14 at the time. Another youth, Bobby Ray Colvin, also pleaded guilty in the incident and also was sentenced to commission custody.

Mrs. Means said at the time that she and her husband, a retired chemical engineer, were walking near their home when Bayless and Colvin demanded that Means give them his wallet. She said he was shot as he turned toward the youths.

A telephone tip then led police to a park where the death weapon, a .38-caliber pistol, was found wrapped in a red cloth and lying amidst woods and high grass.

Police said Bayless walked away from commission custody last November in Columbus and had been sought since.

Sources said a noncommissioned officer appeared to be in charge of a committee representing the soldiers.

Ethiopia's army totals more than 40,000 men, and about a fourth of it is stationed in the Asmara area. The navy includes about 1,700 men, plus about 190 officers and 125 marines, nearly all at Massawa. A government spokesman said there was no question of negotiating with the rebels in northern Ethiopia. He said the army chief, Lt. Gen. Asafa Ayene, would report back to the 82-year-old emperor and then relay the ruler's decision to the men.

The rebels proclaimed loyalty to the emperor in a broadcast Tuesday night nature of the office which he is seeking.

Smith compared his office with that of the Attorney General. He noted that while Franklin County is considered an urban area, and thus has the problems major cities face, it also has 120,000 acres of farmland.

"One of the Attorney General's principal duties is to legally advise political subdivisions throughout Ohio which are in rural areas."

Smith noted that his work in the prosecutor's office often concerns agencies in Franklin County's rural areas.

Smith said that the Party can win in 1974 if there is a revival of old fashioned Republican character—lots of hard work, and lots of sacrifice.

Poll Shows Swing Away From Heath

LONDON (AP) — With Britain's general election only one day away, three opinion polls published today trimmed some more off the lead of Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservatives.

The government forces were below 40 per cent in all three polls. Their showings averaged 38.1 per cent, while Harold Wilson's Laborites averaged 35.5, Jeremy Thorpe's Liberals had 23.9 and minority parties accounted for the rest.

The Conservatives, who took 46.2 per cent of the popular vote in the 1970 election, had an average lead of six per cent over the Laborites in the same polls a week ago.

The samplings published today were taken during the weekend after a series of upsets for the Conservatives. They included government statistics showing food prices up 53 per cent since Heath ousted Wilson in 1970, the Pay Board's admission that the striking coal miners were entitled to more pay than they are asking for, and Conservative maverick Enoch Powell's attack on Heath's taking Britain into the European Common Market.

After the polls were taken, the Conservatives were hit by more blows.

The government had to announce that the nation's trade deficit hit a record $880.9 million in January, 12 times the size of a deficit that was considered a major factor in the defeat of Wilson's Labor government in 1970. The Conservatives argued that deficit proved their strong economic controls must be continued, but Laborites and Liberals charged the deficit showed Heath is unable to handle the economy.

The director-general of the Confederation of British Industry, normally a bulwark of the Conservative party, came out for the repeal of the Industrial Relations Act, the antistrike legislation that is the basis of Heath's strategy for economic growth. He said the act "is so surrounded by hatred that we must have a more honest try at another act."

Gregg Given Post

from Asmara, the capital of Eritrea province. But they made 24 economic demands, including a 50 per cent pay raise, increases in pensions and injury benefits and higher field allowances.

A government spokesman denied that the rebellion had spread to troops elsewhere in the country. But he admitted that soldiers everywhere shared the rebels' grievances because of the rapidly rising cost of living.

"There is no question of a coup or anything like that," the spokesman said. "They were naughty, but they are very loyal boys. The only problem is that this country is not rich enough to pay out millions."

Second lieutenants and sergeants were reported leading the rebellious enlisted men of the 2nd Division in Asmara. They moved out through the city's palm-lined streets before dawn Tuesday and took over key points in the city of 200,000 without a shot being fired.

Some sources said the provincial governor, Debebe Hailemariam, and the division commander, Gen. Seyoum GedlaGiorgis, were detained with other high-ranking officers, but other accounts denied this.

Asmara was reported tense but quiet under heavy military patrols. Traffic was near normal, but the civilian airport was closed and roads from the city were blocked.

The 800 United States Navy personnel and dependents at Kagnaw, an American communications base outside Asmara, were reported in no danger.

Grain Program Explained To Local NFO

The Pickaway County National Farmers Organization heard the new rapid pay system for the grain program explained during its February meeting.

Bill Burr and Urban Schnipke were the guest speakers Bob Barnes of the Pickaway NFO remarked that over 3,700 bushels of grain had been signed up in the county since the January meeting. Anyone wishing to consign grain may contact Barnes or Tom Ronrad.

Conrad gave a special legislative report. The next meeting will be March 19 at the New Holland United Methodist Church.

After the regular NFO meeting the annual meeting of shareholders of the collection point was held. President Raymon Reiterman announced shares can still be purchased.

Reiterman, Charles McCray, Vernon Gifford were elected new directors with Tom Overly and Lawrence Carle serving terms from 1973. New officers for the collection point are: Raymond Reiterman, president; Vernon Gifford, vice president; Charles McCray, secretary-treasurer.

Marshals Move To Evict Group

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP) — United States marshals today evicted a colony of squatters occupying the site of a federal dam project and began to bulldoze their abandoned homes.

"They were there illegally so we are removing them," said Christopher Rice, a spokesman for the U.S. Justice Department.

The marshals, dressed in blue jumpsuits and armed with revolvers, knocked on doors of the 21 rundown structures the squatters have called home since arriving in the late 1960s. The marshals presented letters telling the inhabitants they were being asked to leave as the result of an eviction order issued by a federal judge.

"The area has been cleared. We are proceeding to break down the property," a marshal's voice crackled over a walkie-talkie less than two hours after the officers moved in at daybreak.

The squatters, estimated to number about 45 men, women and children, were led out in pairs and driven to roadblocks on the fringe of the lush valley that flanks the Delaware River near this Pocono Mountain community.

The government has viewed the self-proclaimed residents of the area, known as Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, as a problem for more than three years. Generally in their 20s and 30s, the squatters declared a "People's right" to the land, on which they kept pigs, horses and chickens and tilled small gardens.

The determination of the squatters to stay on the land has been a continuing headache for the government. Of various ages and backgrounds, most depend on small gardens for food. A number of children are among the colony.

Many of the squatters drifted to the valley in the spring of 1970 when the United States Army Corps of Engineers was leasing houses it had acquired to make room for the dam. The leases ran out in November of that year and were not renewed, but many of the drifters refused to leave.

In September 1971, a court order was granted permitting the government to move in. U.S. marshals, assisted by personnel from the Corps of Engineers bulldozed a dozen buildings under.

The marshals pulled back when some of the squatters flung themselves on the ground in front of the bulldozers and perched on roofs of houses that were to be toppled.

Last month, the U.S. attorney's office was granted a writ of assistance by a federal judge permitting the Justice Department to send marshals and deputies to evict the squatters.

Sporadic incidents of violence and vandalism have been reported in the past both by officials and the squatters.

Ethiopian Navy Joins Pay Revolt

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — The Ethiopian navy today joined a revolt for higher pay by soldiers in northern Ethiopia and took over the African nation's Red Sea naval base at Massawa, sources at the base reported.

The rebellion began Tuesday when army troops and a few air force men seized key points in Asmara, Ethiopia's second largest city and the capital of Eritrea province. It is 60 miles south of Masawa.

No violence was reported so far, and Emperor Haile Selassie ordered the army chief of staff to Asmara today to hear the rebels' complaints.

Sources said a noncommissioned officer appeared to be in charge of a committee representing the soldiers. Ethiopia's army totals more than 40,000 men, and about a fourth of it is stationed in the Asmara area. The navy includes about 1,700 men, plus about 190 officers and 125 marines, nearly all at Massawa. A government spokesman said there was no question of negotiating with the rebels in northern Ethiopia. He said the army chief, Lt. Gen. Asafa Ayene, would report back to the 82-year-old emperor and then relay the ruler's decision to the men.

The rebels proclaimed loyalty to the emperor in a broadcast Tuesday night from Asmara, the capital of Eritrea province. But they made 24 economic demands, including a 50 per cent pay raise, increases in pensions and injury benefits and higher field allowances.

A government spokesman denied that the rebellion had spread to troops elsewhere in the country. But he admitted that soldiers everywhere shared the rebels' grievances because of the rapidly rising cost of living.

"There is no question of a coup or anything like that," the spokesman said. "They were naughty, but they are very loyal boys. The only problem is that this country is not rich enough to pay out millions."

Second lieutenants and sergeants were reported leading the rebellious enlisted men of the 2nd Division in Asmara. They moved out through the city's palm-lined streets before dawn Tuesday and took over key points in the city of 200,000 without a shot being fired.

Some sources said the provincial governor, Debebe Hailemariam, and the division commander, Gen. Seyoum GedlaGiorgis, were detained with other high-ranking officers, but other accounts denied this.

Asmara was reported tense but quiet under heavy military patrols. Traffic was near normal, but the civilian airport was closed and roads from the city were blocked.

The 800 United States Navy personnel and dependents at Kagnaw, an American communications base outside Asmara, were reported in no danger.

Grain Program Explained To Local NFO

The Pickaway County National Farmers Organization heard the new rapid pay system for the grain program explained during its February meeting.

Bill Burr and Urban Schnipke were the guest speakers Bob Barnes of the Pickaway NFO remarked that over 3,700 bushels of grain had been signed up in the county since the January meeting. Anyone wishing to consign grain may contact Barnes or Tom Ronrad.

Conrad gave a special legislative report. The next meeting will be March 19 at the New Holland United Methodist Church.

After the regular NFO meeting the annual meeting of shareholders of the collection point was held. President Raymond Reiterman announced shares can still be purchased.

Reiterman, Charles McCray, Vernon Gifford were elected new directors with Tom Overly and Lawrence Carle serving terms from 1973. New officers for the collection point are: Raymond Reiterman, president; Vernon Gifford, vice president; Charles McCray, secretary-treasurer.

Marshals Move To Evict Group

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP) — United States marshals today evicted a colony of squatters occupying the site of a federal dam project and began to bulldoze their abandoned homes.

"They were there illegally so we are removing them," said Christopher Rice, a spokesman for the U.S. Justice Department.

The marshals, dressed in blue jumpsuits and armed with revolvers, knocked on doors of the 21 rundown structures the squatters have called home since arriving in the late 1960s. The marshals presented letters telling the inhabitants they were being asked to leave as the result of an eviction order issued by a federal judge.

"The area has been cleared. We are proceeding to break down the property," a marshal's voice crackled over a walkie-talkie less than two hours after the officers moved in at daybreak.

The squatters, estimated to number about 45 men, women and children, were led out in pairs and driven to roadblocks on the fringe of the lush valley that flanks the Delaware River near this Pocono Mountain community.

The government has viewed the self-proclaimed residents of the area, known as Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, as a problem for more than three years. Generally in their 20s and 30s, the squatters declared a "People's right" to the land, on which they kept pigs, horses and chickens and tilled small gardens.

The determination of the squatters to stay on the land has been a continuing headache for the government. Of various ages and backgrounds, most depend on small gardens for food. A number of children are among the colony.

Many of the squatters drifted to the valley in the spring of 1970 when the United States Army Corps of Engineers was leasing houses it had acquired to make room for the dam. The leases ran out in November of that year and were not renewed, but many of the drifters refused to leave.

In September 1971, a court order was granted permitting the government to move in. U.S. marshals, assisted by personnel from the Corps of Engineers bulldozed a dozen buildings under.

The marshals pulled back when some of the squatters flung themselves on the ground in front of the bulldozers and perched on roofs of houses that were to be toppled.

Last month, the U.S. attorney's office was granted a writ of assistance by a federal judge permitting the Justice Department to send marshals and deputies to evict the squatters.

Sporadic incidents of violence and vandalism have been reported in the past both by officials and the squatters.

GOP Hears Candidates

Franklin County Prosecuting Attorney George C. Smith was the guest speaker before the Pickaway County Republican Central and Executive committees, county officials, and candidates for county offices.

GEORGE C. SMITH

Smith, seeking the Republican nomination for Ohio Attorney General, spoke at a dinner meeting Tuesday evening at the Pickaway Arms.

Smith's talk focused on the future of the Republican Party, and on the nature of the office which he is seeking.

Smith compared his office with that of the Attorney General. He noted that while Franklin County is considered an urban area, and thus has the problems major cities face, it also has 120,000 acres of farmland.

"One of the Attorney General's principal duties is to legally advise political subdivisions throughout Ohio which are in rural areas."

Smith noted that his work in the prosecutor's office often concerns agencies in Franklin County's rural areas.

Smith said that the Party can win in 1974 if there is a revival of old fashioned Republican character—lots of hard work, and lots of sacrifice.

Poll Shows Swing Away From Heath

LONDON (AP) — With Britain's general election only one day away, three opinion polls published today trimmed some more off the lead of Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservatives.

The government forces were below 40 per cent in all three polls. Their showings averaged 38.1 per cent, while Harold Wilson's Laborites averaged 35.5, Jeremy Thorpe's Liberals had 23.9 and minority parties accounted for the rest.

The Conservatives, who took 46.2 per cent of the popular vote in the 1970 election, had an average lead of six per cent over the Laborites in the same polls a week ago.

The samplings published today were taken during the weekend after a series of upsets for the Conservatives. They included government statistics showing food prices up 53 per cent since Heath ousted Wilson in 1970, the Pay Board's admission that the striking coal miners were entitled to more pay than they are asking for, and Conservative maverick Enoch Powell's attack on Heath's taking Britain into the European Common Market.

After the polls were taken, the Conservatives were hit by more blows.

The government had to announce that the nation's trade deficit hit a record $880.9 million in January, 12 times the size of a deficit that was considered a major factor in the defeat of Wilson's Labor government in 1970. The Conservatives argued that deficit proved their strong economic controls must be continued, but Laborites and Liberals charged the deficit showed Heath is unable to handle the economy.

The director-general of the Confederation of British Industry, normally a bulwark of the Conservative party, came out for the repeal of the Industrial Relations Act, the antistrike legislation that is the basis of Heath's strategy for economic growth. He said the act "is so surrounded by hatred that we must have a more honest try at another act."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Richard A. Gregg was named chief today of the examination and audit division of the Ohio Department of Insurance.

Akron Couple Slain In Park

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The bodies of an Akron couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Anthony, were found today face down in the snow of an Akron park, police reported, calling it an execution-style slaying.

Anthony, 47, was clutching a rosary, and his wife was holding a crucifix, police said.

"It looks like the murderer gave them time to pray," Police Detective Frank Davis added.

Carl Bayless of Akron, who will be 18 Thursday, was charged with two counts of aggravated murder.

Anthony was treasurer of Kucko-Hecker Funeral Home, Akron.

Police said robbery appeared to be the motive.

Each victim had been shot once in the back of the head, police said.

A telephone tip led officers to the bodies before dawn, police added.

Bayless was sentenced to seven years in custody of the Ohio Youth Commission after pleading guilty to killing Francis K. Means in September 1970. Bayless was 14 at the time. Another youth, Bobby Ray Colvin, also pleaded guilty in the incident and also was sentenced to commission custody.

Mrs. Means said at the time that she and her husband, a retired chemical engineer, were walking near their home when Bayless and Colvin demanded that Means give them his wallet. She said he was shot as he turned toward the youths.

A telephone tip then led police to a park where the death weapon, a .38-caliber pistol, was found wrapped in a red cloth and lying amidst woods and high grass.

Police said Bayless walked away from commission custody last November in Columbus and had been sought since.
